Boy Paralyzed At 14 Wins High School Diploma

CANBY, June 2 — (AP) — George Nelson, 32-year-old Canby resident who has been almost completely paralyzed since a tragic swimming day when he was 14, was graduated from high school Thursday night.

Nelson, who has earned his own living despite the fact that his body paralyzed from the neck down and his hands have only limited use, earned straight "A" grades (highest possible) in his courses.

His schooling was interrupted when, as a 6-foot 14-year-old, he dived into the Pudding river and hit his head on the bottom. The injury paralyzed him.

Recently, after years of work at fathering, newspaper items by phone, selling cards, and taking magazine subscriptions, he decided to resume his high school course.

Now he will make his first trip since the accident: a rail journey to San Francisco, gift of Southern Pacific trainmen and Eugene high school students.

The Eugene pupils have become interested because boyhood friend of Nelson's, William Dedman, teaches in that city.
