Oregon Coast Proves Lure For Vacationers

The Oregon coast is attracting hundreds of vacationers from all parts of the country even this early in the season and no doubt as the summer sets in, many thousands will have spent their vacations in this scenic part of Oregon.

Paul Jenkins, News-Review photographer, who took the photographs for this page, accompanied by Mrs. Jenkins and Sue Armon and Danese Doak as models, made a trip to the coast Sunday. Miss Armon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Armon, has a position at the Roseburg Public Library, following completion of her education in Minnesota. Miss Doak, daughter of Mrs. Keith Bryant of Roseburg, was graduated from Roseburg high school in 1948 and this last year attended Stephens college in Columbia, Mo. and is home for the summer months.

Exceptionally fine hospitality and excellent accommodations are available all along the Oregon coast. In addition to the coast right close to home one can find wonderful spots along the North Umpqua, the Wolf Creek forest camp on Little river, and closest of all, "The City Swimming Pool." Seems that most people feel they haven't had a vacation unless they travel at least as far as the east coast, when Oregon offers such wonderful vacation places as Timberline lodge, Crater; Diamond and Odell lakes, the Oregon caves and best of all the Oregon coast.

ROSEBURG GIRL TELLS BETROTHAL AT SORORITY HOUSE ON EUGENE CAMPUS

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Anderson of Roseburg announce the engagement of their daughter, Ethel Jane, to Charles E. Hallin, son of Mrs. Hugo Hallin and the late Mr. Halin of Eugene. The marriage will take place this summer.

The news was told recently at dinner in the Alpha Xi Delta sorority house on the local campus. Booklets in the form of golden wedding bells carried a clever inscription and picture of the pair, and were hidden beneath plates.

Both Miss Anderson and Mr. Hallin are seniors at the university, and will be graduated in June. She is a major in public school music, and a member of Phi Beta, music and speech honorary fraternity. He will take his degree in business administration. He is a member of Yeomen.—Eugene Register-Guard.

Danese Doak, left, and Sue Armon sift sand between their fingers and gaze at circling gulls in the salty air in the dune country. Hundreds of picnickers and vacationists were lazily occupied in doing the same thing and soaking up the rays of the sun, wherever they could find any.

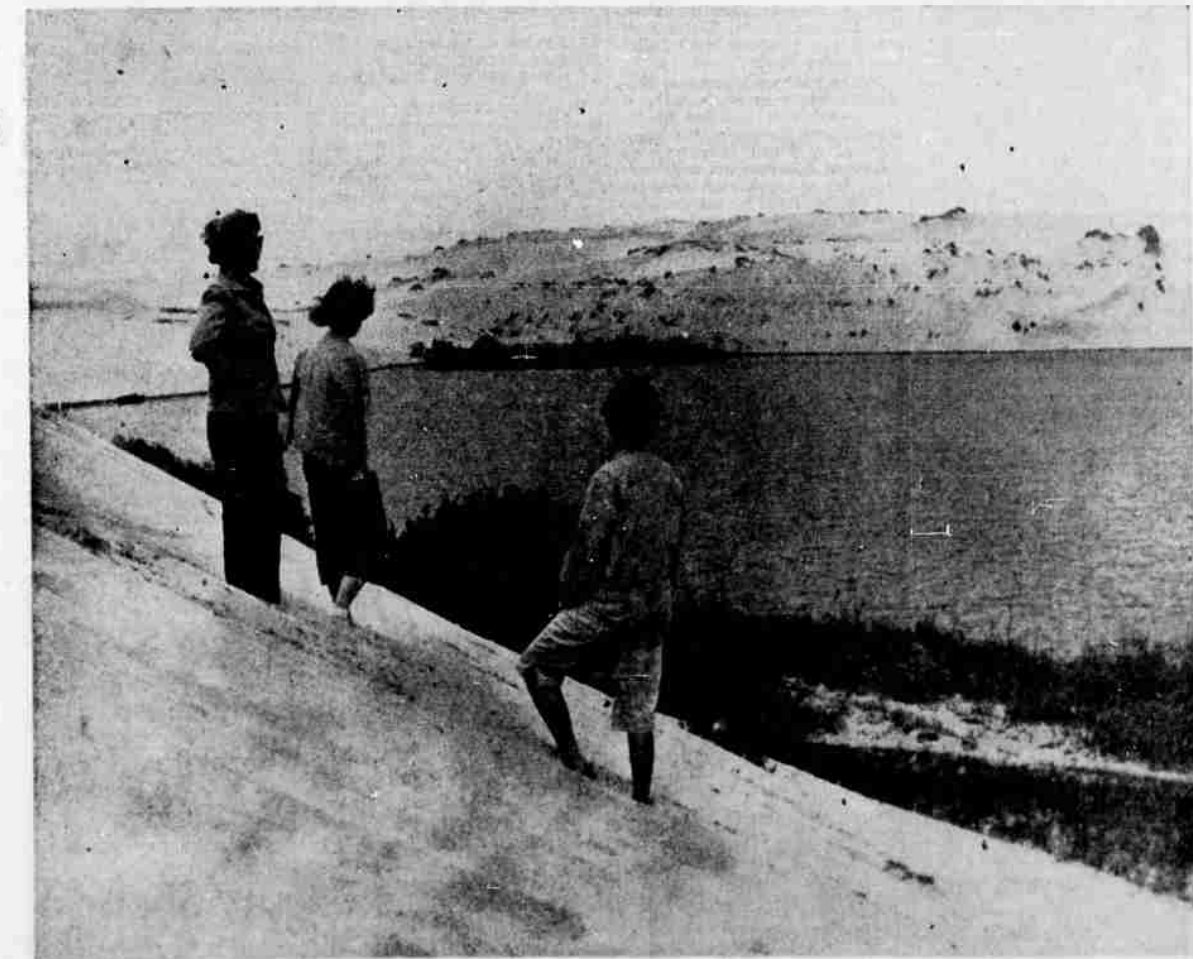

Sue Armon, Danese Doak and Mrs. Paul Jenkins toboggan down a towering sand dune at Cleawox lake. These restless dunes move ever landward and in many places threaten the highways and neighboring farmlands.

Danese Doak studies a historical marker near Reedsport, erected in honor of Jedediah Smith, famous Rocky Mountain fur trapper and trader, who in 1828 discovered and named Smith river. This stream joins the Umpqua opposite the town of Reedsport.

Replete after a seafood dinner, the weary models sit in a Yachats restaurant and watch the ebbing tide and the departing day as time nears for the return home. Such a good time at the beach! Must come again.

MODELS VIEW AN ARM OF CLEAWOX lake through heavy beach north of Reedsport and Gardiner. These great billows of sand form a playground paradise for vacationists.

THE LIGHTHOUSE AT HECETA HEAD on the Coast highway north of Florence not only lights mariners many miles at sea but is focal point for thousands of cameras in the hands of coast visitors each summer. It is the practical southern terminus of the famous Lincoln county beaches.
