Upward Trends in Employment and Building Noted

With the weather apparently having settled down for the summer, employment totals increased rapidly during the month of May. The lumber industry has expanded to the point that there are now as many employed in that field as in 1948, with the possibilities of surpassing those totals by mid-summer. Logging activities, while suffering occasionally from low humidity, are progressing satisfactorily and the supply of logs to the mills is adequate to prevent shut-downs, according to the summary issued by George T. Foster, manager of the Oregon State Employment service office here.

The record-breaking issuance of building permits for the month has created a boom in the construction field that has produced a slight shortage of carpenters and construction workers. Additional permits anticipated during June may result in a serious shortage of workers in this field. The employment picture looks exceptionally good for people with abilities in this type of work clear up until the winter season begins.

The estimated total of unemployed persons is below that for the same period last year. The month of May also showed a decrease of approximately fifty per cent over the previous month. The overall total is expected to be lower during the summer months than during 1949, but it is not believed that it will reach the low levels of 1948.

The outlook for the balance of the year can be considered to be very good. The lumber industry is catering to a better market than last year, the building program is going ahead, with results in increased business in retail and all wholesale trade and their allied fields. The labor supply is gradually picking up, with it becoming increasingly difficult to secure qualified applicants for skilled jobs. No particular shortage in common labor categories can be foreseen at this time.

Man Makes 28 Straight Passes At Dice Table

LAS VEGAS, Nev., (AP)—A gambling casino reports it lost $150,000 at a crap table when an unknown man made 28 straight passes with the bones. The club (the Desert Inn) said the odds against a gambler making his point times are about 10,000,000 to one.

Progress in Fighting Mine Fires Reported

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The federal government is making progress in its two-year-old war against underground fires, some of which have been smoldering for years, the Bureau of Mines says. Some of the fires linking away at valuable coal beds in Pennsylvania, Colorado and Wyoming, are being choked off by a block on their sources of oxygen; others are being isolated by trenches; some are being literally dug out of the earth.

Street Dance To Boost Jaycees' Queen Candidate

The Roseburg Junior Chamber of Commerce voted at its Monday night meeting to hold a street dance Friday evening, June 16, to promote the sale of buttons for their queen candidate for the Sutherlin Timber Days celebration, Bonnie Bellows.

Ernie Barker proposed the dance to the Jaycee members, who enthusiastically endorsed the idea. The dance will be held between Jackson and Main streets on Oak street. Final arrangements have been turned over to the queen candidate committee. Rod Dotson, chairman of the committee, stated he would announce the complete plans for the dance later in the week.

Smoky Metcalf's western band has been signed to play Saturday, June 24, at the armory for the Jaycee-sponsored rodeo dance, according to Bob Murray, dance chairman. The Jaycees have signed two other performers, Rocky Starr and Chuck and his Rhythm Kings, to play for the rodeo dances. The dances, to be held in conjunction with the Douglas County Sheriff's Posse rodeo, will get underway Friday, June 23, with Rocky Starr's outfit playing to dancers at Kennedy's Old Dutch. Mike White and his Rhythm Kings will play to dancers at the armory. The Rhythm Kings will move to Kennedy's Saturday night, June 24, while Metcalf will play to dancers at the armory.

Rod Dotson introduced Miss Bellows to the Jaycee membership and gave a short pep talk on selling buttons in her behalf.

Boeing Damage Action Against Union Dismissed

SEATTLE, June 13 (AP)—A $9,045,000 suit brought by the Boeing Airplane company for alleged union damages in the lengthy 1948 strike was dismissed Monday by United States District Judge James M. Carter.

The suit was brought against the Aero Mechanics union and its parent union, the International Association of Machinists (I.A.M.). The company announced immediately it will appeal to the United States court of appeals for the ninth district.

Damages were asked by the company for a 140-day strike conducted by the unions in which some 13,000 workers were involved. The strike ran from April 22 to September 10, 1948.

Judge Carter ruled the company had forfeited its right to sue because the company had rescinded its contract with the unions the day the strike began.

A. F. Logan, director of industrial relations for Boeing, sent a letter to the unions the first day of the strike, which read: "By reason of this strike, you are hereby notified that the agreement referred to above (the contract between the company and the unions) is terminated and at an end."

Judge Carter further ruled that the international was not liable for the strike because it did not call the walkout and did no action until six days after it began.

However, Judge Carter agreed with an earlier ruling by the U. S. court of appeals in Washington that the union's strike was illegal. "It is clear to me that congress intended the 60-day notice to be the proper way to terminate a contract," Carter said. "Therefore, it was unlawful on the part of the union (which did not file the notice) to call the strike."

Sparkplug Removed From Boy's Forehead

NEWARK, N. J., June 13 (AP)—Nine-year-old Lamont Huntly had a three-inch sparkplug sticking out of his forehead when they brought him to city hospital yesterday.

Doctors lifted the sparkplug out in an operation that took 1 1/2 hours. It had been embedded half an inch in Lamont's skull, over the right eye.

The boy said a school companion who had been refused to share a box of crackers threw the rusty sparkplug at him, and there it stuck.

Doctors reported his condition as fair and said his brain had not been injured. Both boys are Negroes.

STICK TO LAST

Shoemaker Gets Advice, Fine As Sex Forecaster

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—A shoemaker who claimed an "unbelievable" method of pre-determining the sex of children was told by a city judge yesterday to stick to his last.

Anastas Calendar, 64, was before municipal judge Eugene J. Holland on a charge of distributing commercial advertising in Lincoln park. The cards he passed out read: "Do you want a girl? My unbelievable method will guarantee your wish. No money accepted until proof. Consult me personally."

The Russian-born shoemaker said the "method" was a secret Greek potion given him by a Russian midwife who had pre-determined the sex of a son of Czar Nicholas II of Russia.

Judge Holland cut short Calendar's explanation of his method and fined him $5 and costs and ordered his 200 cards destroyed.

Calendar, out of court, told newsmen that if the wife drinks the brew before conception, she will have a daughter; if the husband drinks it, the baby will be a boy.

He appeared hurt when a reporter asked what happened if both wife and husband drank the potion. "You're making fun of me," he said and didn't answer.

Shirley May France Will Try Channel Swim Again

SOMERSET, Mass.—(AP)—Shirley Mae France, 17-year-old long distance swimmer, will leave for England Thursday to make a second attempt to swim the English channel.

She is presently recovering from a throat operation performed at New York hospital. Her father said the operation may help her breathing while she is swimming.

Harry Boudakian, Shirley's trainer, did not say definitely when Shirley would attempt the crossing but indicated it would be sometime in late July.

She had to be pulled from the water after several hours because of severe cramps in her first attempt last year.
