Industrial Survey Of Roseburg Area Planned

Inventory Of Resources To Be Compiled

Federal, State Agencies To Cooperate; Guide To Expansion Major Aim

Plans to sponsor an industrial and economic survey of Roseburg and vicinity were told today by the Roseburg chamber of commerce. Harold Hickerson, secretary-manager, said the survey will be first of its type in Oregon and will be the most comprehensive ever undertaken.

Sponsored by the chamber of commerce, the survey will be under the direction of the Bureau of Land Management in conjunction with the State Forests Products laboratory, with the cooperation of all state and federal agencies having jurisdiction in this area.

Purpose of the survey is to secure an accurate inventory of resources and raw materials and determine what might be feasible in the expansion of Douglas county industries.

Oakland, Sutherlin, Myrtle Creek, Canyonville and Riddle have been invited to participate. Hickerson said Myrtle Creek has already taken action to join with Roseburg in promoting the survey plans, following a decision to that effect by the Myrtle Creek city council Monday.

Hickerson said he expects other communities to take similar action soon.

C. O. Broders, Oregon State college professor, has been engaged by the local chamber as its representative to work in conjunction with the cooperating agencies.

Hickerson said Broders' services will be available to other communities who join in the survey. Broders will come to Roseburg following completion of coordinating work in which he is now engaged with state and federal agencies in Portland and Salem.

Planners expect it will take from 90 to 120 days to assemble, analyze and complete the survey before it is published for use by the communities in this area.

Various committees from the league have been conducting studies of the budget and will make their reports during the hearing. President Riddle is urging attendance of all tax league members.

Pair Escape Death In Crash Of Airplane

LORAIN, O., June 14.—(AP)—John T. Gibbs, 41, of Los Angeles, Calif., and Miss Jeanne Shepherd, 29, of New York, were cut and bruised yesterday when Gibbs' airplane crash-landed en route to Chicago.

Gibbs, owner of the Fascination Games Equipment Co., of Seaside, Ore., blamed the landing in a pear orchard on faulty instruments. The plane smashed trees and rammed a farmer's new automobile. It just missed a storage tank containing 1,000 gallons of gasoline.

Both Gibbs and Miss Shepherd, a sales representative for a New York firm, were treated at an Amherst, O., hospital.

New York Newspaper Facing Long Strike

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Early morning shifts of AFL mechanical union members refused to cross CIO picket lines at the New York World-Telegram and Sun, and both sides dug in for a long strike.

HOLE 'MOVED'

Woman Forces Utility To Dig New Pole Site

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., June 14.—(AP)—An elderly woman, armed with a parasol and determination, won a fight against a utility construction company yesterday.

She did it by staging a sitdown strike.

The construction company, installing a new street lighting system, dug a hole for a power pole in front of Mrs. Olive Poff's apartment house.

Before workmen could put up the pole, out of the building popped Mrs. Poff.

She said the light would shine in the windows and disturb her and other tenants. Then the 83-year-old woman sat down at the edge of the hole, opened her parasol and waited for the company's next move.

An hour later the company conceded defeat and filled in the hole. Mrs. Poff folded her parasol and went back into her house.

The pole was installed 75 feet away from Mrs. Poff's place.

New Theater At Winston To Open Friday Night

The Benetta theater at Winston will hold its formal opening Friday night, under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bender.

Final touches are being given and the work is being rushed to make the opening possible.

The Benetta is located on the east side of the highway immediately south of the highway junction. A large sign is to be erected over the front but it will not be ready before Monday, said Bender.

The theater is housed in a quarter-type structure built of wood trusses and covered with fireproof sheet metal. It is constructed on a sloping floor to permit full vision of the screen.

The building will accommodate 450 persons. Comfortable cushion seats have been installed. The auditorium is fully air-conditioned.

Motion pictures will be shown on an 18-foot screen and sound will come over three scientifically designed loudspeakers that pick up high and low frequency sound waves.

A roomy, fire-proof booth houses two new projectors.

A special feature of the theater is the "cry room" for mothers with babies. They may view and hear the picture in a sound proof room, equipped with comfortable flower-print cushioned seats.

The lobby has a snack bar, featuring candy, soft drinks and popcorn. The lobby woodwork, doors and cabinets are finished in mahogany.

Mr. and Mrs. Bender came from Oswego three years ago and purchased the Shamrock motel. Selling that business, they built the Benetta theater. Mr. Bender was associated as a partner in Bender motors at Oswego, and prior to that ran a general store in the Midwest. (Pictures on pages 1 and 12)

House Favors Rent Control; Tilt Not Over

Extension Bill Bounces Back To Senate; Fresh Filibuster Threatened

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—House passage of a rent control bill bounced it back to the Senate today—and the threat of a new filibuster there.

Changes which were voted late yesterday by the House as it passed the bill, 202 to 163, make it necessary for the Senate to take another look, and Senator Cain (R-Wash) who led a filibuster last week before the Senate passed the bill, indicated that he wants a good, long look.

He might want to start another filibuster which conceivably could prolong final action beyond June 30, when the present rent control act expires.

The House-voted changes are relatively minor.

The Senate voted for a one-year extension of the federal control program, with the last six months of control affecting only those communities that request continuance from next January 31 to June 30.

The House decided to make the general extension until next January 31—seven months—with communities having the option of keeping controls for an additional five months instead of six.

Legislatures Considered

Another change made by the House would give the unincorporated areas of counties the right to remove controls after a public hearing. That option already belongs to states and incorporated communities.

The reasoning behind the House decision to extend the controls generally until January 31 was that state legislatures, many of them meeting in January, would have a chance to enact local laws before the federal statute expires.

And Congress would have a month in 1951 in which to take another look at the rental housing picture.

Both the Senate and the House bills affect an estimated 8,000,000 rented dwellings, or about half that were under controls in 1946. Recent changes in the original law provided for gradual decontrol.

House Republicans, like Cain, argued that there no longer is any need for controls. They tried to kill the bill by sending it back to committee but lost by a vote of 226 to 143.

FLAG SALUTED

Those 21 explosions which rocked the city at 6 a. m. today did not herald an invasion. The Roseburg Elks lodge set off the salute atop Mt. Nebo in annual observance of Flag day. Public Flag day ceremonies will be held tonight at 6:30 in the Elks temple.

SOCIAL SECURITY MULLED

Pay-As-You-Go System Proposed In Resolution Scheduled In Senate

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—Senators supporting a bill to expand the social security program made plain today they regard it only as a step toward a further overhauling of the system.

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate finance committee told reporters a resolution will be offered to authorize a congressional study of problems left unsolved by the measure now before the Senate.

The resolution will provide among other things for investigation of proposals for a pay-as-you-go pension system with universal coverage.

George said the resolution contemplates that further changes in the present old-age and survivors insurance program will be submitted to Congress next year, relating particularly to greater extension of coverage.

The bill now up for action, a revised version of a measure passed by the House last year, would bring about 10,000,000 more persons into the retirement system. About 35,000,000 are covered now.

It would also increase monthly benefits to current beneficiaries an average of 85 to 90 per cent and approximately double the amounts payable to persons retiring in the future.

Branded "Crazy Maze"

Senators Millikin and Taft, both members of the finance committee, took issue with GOP colleagues who contend that the bill should be rejected on the ground that it would only tend to perpetuate a fundamentally poor program.

Senator Butler (R-Neb), a member of the finance committee who dissenting from the majority report recommending the bill, denounced the present system as "a crazy maze."

Furthermore, he told the Senate yesterday, he is convinced that as it now is organized it is "on the way to bankruptcy." He said he would offer an alternative later.

Butler said he wanted "a system and a benefit that we can honestly pay for as we go, closing out each year's accounts when the year is over and beginning again when the new year starts."

County Health Assn. Dates Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Douglas County Health and Tuberculosis association will be held Wednesday, June 21, in the Hotel Umpqua civic room. The meeting is open to the public.

C. F. Feike, state director of vocational rehabilitation, will be the guest speaker.

Following the main address, the annual business meeting, election of officers and report of the year's work will be held.

According to Mrs. W. F. Amiot, executive secretary, the Christmas Seal sales netted $9,300 this last year.

Parley Asked In Midst Of New Violence

14 Pickets Arrested After Blocking Roads, Dumping Milk Cargoes

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—(AP)—Sixty-eight struck milk companies carried their appeal for arbitration to the public today amid new violence in the six-day-old dairy workers strike which has shut off almost all deliveries in a seven-county area.

The Greater Pittsburgh Milk Dealers association inserted ads in strike-area newspapers which listed the issues and urged the AFL Dairy Workers union to accept arbitration.

Negotiations are at a standstill. Union and company met for ten minutes last night, then recessed until this afternoon.

A carload of pickets escaped police after hurling a beer bottle into a second plate glass window of a dairy bar in suburban Knoxville.

In Westmoreland county, in southwestern Pennsylvania, 14 milk strike pickets have been arrested. They are charged with contempt of a court order banning interference with dairy operations.

They were arrested by sheriff's deputies and state police after a wave of incidents which saw roads blocked, drivers threatened and milk cargoes dumped.

New Keep Orderly

State police patrols now appear to be keeping pickets orderly throughout the affected counties of Allegheny, Beaver, Washington, Fayette, Butler, Lawrence and Greene.

The union wants a 40-hour week with 48 hours pay. They also want the daily guarantee raised from $10 to $13.50. The dealers offered $11 and arbitration of all differences. They claim the drivers now average $300 or more a month.

A lot of dairymen producers, caught in the middle, were selling raw milk for 50 cents a gallon to all comers.

What wasn't sold was fed to livestock or thrown away. A similar strike by the same has shut off the milk supply in the nation's capital. Milk drivers in Washington walked out three days ago. No progress is reported toward a settlement there, either.

2 Men File For School Director

Names of two persons who have filed for the city school board vacancy will be submitted to Roseburg school district 4 voters June 19.

Petitions have been submitted and acceptances filed by A. J. "Bud" Ellison, who has completed his tenth year on the school board, and William G. "Bill" Clarenbach, making his initial bid for the board position.

Ellison is a graduate of Roseburg high school and attended the University of Oregon. He is married and has two children, both of whom are in Roseburg schools. He has made an extensive study of schools and school procedures during his two full terms on the board, according to other board members. Ellison is employed as the Texas Oil company bulk distributor for this area.

Clarenbach, principal owner of the Roseburg Pro-Flam Gas company, has been a resident of Roseburg for about four years. He is a graduate architect, a heating and air conditioning engineer and was educated at the University of California. He is married and has one son attending the Roseburg schools.

The election will be held Monday, June 19, at the junior high school, with polls to be open from 3 to 9 p. m. (DST)

Registered voters living within the confines of the district 4 area vote each year for a board member. The five-member board was established so that one term of office expires each year. Members are elected for five-year terms.

Other board members, serving unexpired terms, are V. V. Harpham, Paul Helwig, Jack Doyle and N. D. Johnson.

Nude Bathing, Drinking Mark Orgy Of Students

MUSKEGON, Mich., June 14.—(AP)—State police joined with sheriff's officers in breaking up a noisy lake Michigan beach party of high school students last night.

Reports of nude bathing and drinking among a crowd of about 150 girls and boys brought officers to the scene.

Before the young celebrants were dispersed, between 35 and 40 state and city police along with sheriff's men had been forced to take a hand.

Evidently the beach party was a spur-of-the-moment affair which followed upon Muskegon high school's senior class picnic, police said.

Deputy Owen said he was "pushed around" by a group of boys and put in a call for help. Beer cans and beer bottles were found scattered about.

SOVIET BLUDGEON POISED

Russia Aims To Smash Resistance Of Weaker Nations, Acheson Says

DALLAS, Tex., June 14.—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson last night, in an address here, accused Russia of holding a "poised bludgeon" over weaker nations.

He declared the Russians are using Communist plotting in other countries and their military preparations to break down the resistance of non-Soviet nations.

Former GI Again Escapes Prison

MUNICH, Germany, June 14.—(AP)—Homer Cook, husky former GI boxer from Muskogee, Okla., whose love for a fraulein landed him in U.S. army jail here, was still at large today after his third break for freedom.

Hundreds of U.S. constabulary military police and more than 1,000 German police manned road blocks and thrashed through forests around Munich throughout the night. They couldn't find the 26-year-old former soldier, who was to have gone on trial before an American military court next week on 18 charges.

They include illegal entry into Germany, attempted armed robbery, resisting arrest, escaping jail—twice before—and posing as an American agent.

Anni Storer, the 23-year-old fraulein for whom Cook stowed away in an army transport so he could get back to Germany, isn't sure about her love for him now.

"Maybe it's true he's a bad man," she said.

In the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
I SUPPOSE that like everybody else you've been reading about this Amerasia magazine business and I rather imagine that (also like everybody else) you've been wondering what the heck it's all about.

Well, it's something like this: Amerasia was one of these slick-paper international politics sheets that those of us who don't wear striped pants seldom read. In the final months of the war it fell under suspicion of our Office of Strategic Services, which was our top-flight espionage and counter-espionage outfit.

To make a long story short, the OSS boys raided the New York office of Amerasia and found there SOME 900 SECRET DOCUMENTS THAT HAD BEEN FILCHED FROM THE FILES OF OUR STATE DEPARTMENT. Some of them were "top drawer" secrets, which is a sort of diplomatic term for super-duper hot stuff.

NOT only that. The OSS men were convinced by what they found that the burglary of the State department was an INSIDE JOB.
