Peret Shows Film Of Alaska Hunting

"Hunting in Alaska," a sound motion picture produced for the Nash Motor Car Co. was shown to the Roseburg Kiwanis club Tuesday noon in the Hotel Umpqua.
Peret was the "hunter" in the motion picture, and his guide was Max Schellenbarger, formerly of the North Umpqua.
The hunters were flown in by plane, with accompanying movie equipment, but the entire film portrayed the experiences of Peret and his guide. But, said Peret, this was his first time on a hunting expedition that he was told "when and where to shoot."

Hospitality At Medford Praised By Lions Group

Roseburg's delegates to the state Lions convention in Medford returned home Tuesday evening after an intensive three-day convention session. Activities ranged from business meetings to social events for men as well as women.
Delegates from the Lady Lions were high in their praise of the hospitality of the Medford club. They were entertained at a luncheon followed by a style revue. Music during the sessions was a highlight. During the men's breakfast Tuesday morning, the forthcoming Shakespearean festival at Ashland was publicized. The 1951 state convocation is scheduled for Baker. More than 800 attended the governor's banquet Monday night.
