

Peace Via Power Held World Hope

PHILADELPHIA, June 14 (AP)—Secretary of the air force Thomas K. Finletter told a graduating class today it can hope for a world without war only if America pursues a policy of peace through power.

Finletter spoke at commencement exercises of the University of Pennsylvania.

For prevention of war, he said, we need a force so strong, so capable of violent counter attack, as to deter any nation bent on breaking peace.

And for the immediate future, he sees a need for continuing to increase the fighting strength of the United States and her allies, because "the curve of military power is rising everywhere."

The air secretary didn't point to any new turns ahead in the road of foreign and military policy. Mainly, he tried to give young people just getting out of college an understanding of why we are arming when we want peace. He said: "Already this conflict of ideas when in fact we want peace—is confusing some of our citizens. The power of a modern military establishment is appalling; and to give us further pause, the role of defense now consists in major part of counter attack."

Appointee Faces Senate Inquiry

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—President Truman's appointment of Martin A. Hutchinson of Virginia for a seven-year term on the federal trade commission appeared headed for trouble today in the senate commerce committee.

Hutchinson, a Richmond attorney who ran against Senator Byrd (D-Va) for the senatorial nomination in 1948, was summoned to testify before the group.

Although Byrd has maintained silence about the appointment, it was reported in other quarters that the committee might ask the Senate to reject Hutchinson's nomination.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP policy committee, told a reporter he thinks many of the Republicans will oppose Hutchinson on the grounds that he is not qualified by experience for the trade commission appointment.

The President's nomination of Hutchinson was regarded by Byrd's friends as another presidential attack on the Virginia senator. Several months ago Mr. Truman told a White House visitor that in his belief there were too many Byrds in Congress. There is only one.
