So You Want To Be A Model? Well, Don't Wear Nine Hats

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK. — (AP) — Thousands of beautiful girls try each year to get a foothold in the glamorous business of modeling. And you could flush Fifth avenue with the tears of those who fail. What is the thing that defeats most of them?
"They come in wearing nine hats and three pairs of gloves," say Joan and Tony Webster, a young couple who operate the Society of Models, Inc., a talent agency. This is their way of saying the girls act phony instead of acting themselves.
"They have stylized walks and stylized hair-dos that make them all look alike," said Tony, a former radio writer who flew an artillery Cub scouting plane in Europe during the war.
"If Groucho Marx is making money, every comedian wants to grow a moustache. It's that way in this business. The girls work too hard trying to look the way they think a professional model ought to."
The result? They become stilted caricatures. They gain a fake poise and lose their own real poise.
Photographers inundated
"The photographers are inundated with pretty girls of this type," Tony continued. "When they see a girl with real individuality and charm, they pounce on her. It's her naturalness that pays off."
There's an old wisecrack that you can tell a man who's out of work because he dresses so neatly. It's that way in modeling, too. "One of the top girl models—she makes up to $500 a week—comes to work wearing glasses and with her hair in curlers," said Tony.
"And the girls who aren't working—they come in wearing nine hats," chimed in Joan, herself a successful model.
She was a Red Cross girl in a Riviera rest camp when Tony met her on leave at war's end. They were married there.
Last January they bought the model agency so they could have the same working hours.
Run-down Place
"We bought it on Monday, saw it on Tuesday, and fainted on Wednesday," laughed Joan. "The place was rather run-down-looking."
But 30 of the models—who earn $15 to $30 an hour—volunteered to help them repaint the offices. They got the job done over weekends. The whole experiment has left Webster dazed.
"What amazes me most is the number of women who want their children to be models," he said.

"Some of them write to us from the maternity wards."
Garnishments Hits Pay Of Idled Chrysler Crew
DETROIT, June 16. — (AP) — Pay day Thursday for 800 auto plant workers lacked its full flavor. Creditors' garnishments against the 800—all made idle in the recent 100-day Chrysler strike—became effective.
A four-week moratorium declared by judges of common pleas court expired, giving creditors the right to collect.
The move affected a total of 140,000 workers. It was settled May 4.
Writs of garnishment permit creditors to take a certain proportion of the pay, depending on whether the debtor is a householder or a non-householder.
