Drink Milk To Remain Fresh

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer
Hot? Bedraggled with the heat? Then remember that milk shakes are cool as a breeze—but a lot more nourishing.

Try this when the spirit whiffs. Crush fresh strawberries, sweeten and chill (or use frozen berries just slightly defrosted). Blend the berries with whipped cream and use as a topping for a tall glass of cold milk.

The big point about milk refreshers aside from their cooling qualities is their nutritional value. Like all dairy foods, they are rich in proteins, riboflavin and calcium and also contain vitamins. Let the youngsters drink all they want. Serve them with crisp packaged cookies. Make them with all the fresh or frozen fruits available.

Pink Milk Shake
(Serves 4)
Six tablespoons honey, 1 cup crushed strawberries, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 3 cups milk, 1 cup crushed ice.

Combine honey with crushed strawberries and lemon juice. Add ice and milk; shake or beat vigorously and serve immediately.

Old-Fashioned Banana Milk Shake
(Serves 6)
Five medium ripe bananas, 1 quart milk, 6 tablespoons molasses, 1/2 teaspoon salt, nutmeg.

Peel bananas. Mash with a fork until smooth and creamy. Add milk, molasses and salt. Blend thoroughly with whisk or rotary beater. Pour into glasses, sprinkle with dash of nutmeg and serve with crisp cookies.

Maple-Vanilla Float
(Serves 5 or 6)

One quart milk, 1/2 cup maple or maple flavored syrup, 1 pint vanilla ice cream (bulk), 1/2 teaspoon vanilla flavoring.

Combine milk, syrup and 2 large scoops vanilla ice cream. Shake or beat until all ingredients are well blended. Top with generous scoop of ice cream and serve at once.
