Alleged Slayer Surrenders To Walter Winchell

NEW YORK, June 20—(AP)—Beneditto Macri, 37, charged with last year's knife killing of union organizer William Lurye, gave himself up Sunday to columnist Walter Winchell.

The two met at a secret rendezvous arranged by a third party, unknown to Winchell. Then the columnist and radio commentator drove Macri to a police station where he was booked for homicide.

Less than two hours before, Winchell had predicted on his radio program that he would turn Macri over to police as the climax of a year's radio campaign to induce the Lurye killers to surrender.

Another man indicted in the slaying, 31-year-old John (Scarface) Giusto, a paroled convict, is still at large.

At the police station, Winchell immediately laid claim in the name of the Damon Runyan cancer fund to the $25,000 reward posted by the AFL International Ladies Garment Workers union, Lurye's organization, after the killing May 9, 1949.

The surrender was an almost exact duplication of Winchell's success of 1939 in persuading Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, one of the heads of the notorious Murder, Inc., to give himself up. Buchalter later was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison.

Vogeler May Be Freed By Hungary, Americans Told

VIENNA, Austria, June 20—(AP)—Reliable American informants said today that Robert A. Vogeler, American business man jailed in Hungary on spy charges, may be released this week.

The informants said Hungarian officials have made no definite promises, but indications are that they may turn Vogeler over to U. S. officials Tuesday or Wednesday.

Vogeler, 39, an executive and traveling European representative of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, was sentenced last February on charges of espionage and sabotage. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 15 years.

Informants here expressed doubt that Edgar Sanders, British associate of Vogeler, who was sentenced at the same time, will be released at present.

The British government has been negotiating for the release of Sanders, who was sentenced to 13 years.

American officials have denied that any deal was made to swap Vogeler for Valentin Gubitchev, Soviet United Nations employee, convicted with Judith Coplon in New York of espionage.

Gubitchev was given a suspended sentence and sent home. Observers interpreted the move then as a bid for similar treatment for Vogeler.

Both Vogeler and Sanders confessed in court that they had turned over to American intelligence services, that they had sabotaged I. T. and T's Hungarian subsidiary, Standard Electric, and sabotaged delivery of equipment from Hungary to Soviet Russia.

Their confessions followed a pattern which had been repeated frequently in trials behind the iron curtain.

The U. S. state department branded the trial as "devoid of justice, inadequate as to evidence, and replete with falsehoods."

Standard develops peacetime use for atomic energy

Salt Lake Pipe Line Company (a Standard Oil Company of California subsidiary) is completing a 566-mile pipe line between Salt Lake City and Pasco, Wash. The line will serve many points with a variety of petroleum products.

How could these products be kept separated...products ranging from diesel fuel to high-octane gasoline...as they follow each other through this common carrier line? Atomic energy has efficiently solved this problem.

Each time a change to a new product is made, very minute amounts of radioactive tracer material are put into the line... tracer material prepared especially for this use in the Government atomic pile at Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

Using a Geiger Counter, operators at the destination tell exactly when the radioactive tracer arrives in the pipe... and they can switch the new product into the proper tank.

The tracer is so diluted in each batch that only the recording of a Geiger Counter can tell you it's there. Its radioactivity will be far less than that of a luminous watch dial.

This is one of the first commercial uses of atomic energy in American industry. But it won't be the last.

Our scientists...and those of other companies...are fast learning how to make this great development work for peaceful purposes. You'll see the results of this knowledge soon... not only in improved methods of transportation but in new products.
