Kiwanis Aid To Children Told To Roseburg Club

The work the Medford Kiwanis club is doing under its under- privileged children's program was described by Dr. Paul Walker of that city, in a talk to the Roseburg Kiwanians Tuesday noon in the Hotel Umpqua.

Approximately $2500 has been spent on campships, and medical and dental care of children during the last year. Most of the work has been done at greatly reduced prices, according to Dr. Walker. The money has been raised by club-sponsored programs, and by personal gifts of citizens who are in sympathy with the club's ef- forts, he said.

A partial list includes the fol- lowing activities: 16 campships for each of the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, YMCA and Salvation Army camps. The children sponsored are those who would not otherwise be able to go.

Two Easter egg hunts have been sponsored with more than 3,000 eggs distributed. Toys have been provided for handicapped school children, and programs have been arranged on National Kid's Day.

Under the medical heading, 48 tonsil and adenoid operations have been provided and 26 eye glasses purchased. Numerous other medi- cal operations have been per- formed.

Specific Cases Cited
A 16-year-old girl with cancer was sent to the University of Cal- ifornia hospital at Berkeley, and her care has since been taken over by the hospital. A six-year-old girl with a hair lip and cleft pal- ate has undergone two operations and will have a third. The Portland physician doing the work has quoted a total fee of only $154. Medi- cal and hospital service will cost over $1,000.

These are only a few of many services the club is sponsoring, said Dr. Walker, who explained the difficulties encountered in dealing with parents in some of the cases. Each one is given care- ful investigation as to need before the project is taken on, he said.

Dr. Walker was introduced by Dr. F. W. Fields.
The club took up a collection to help back Americanism day, which the Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring July 4. A big free fireworks display will be held at the rodeo grounds that night. The Lions, Rotary, Elks and city are each backing the project.

Vern Hasbrook, manager of Con- solidated Freight, was introduced as a "baby" Kiwanian. Guests were J. W. McAlvin, manager of the Douglas Community hospital, and Father William Couglin, for- merly of Roseburg and now of Bend.

The club will hold its first meet- ing in July on Monday, July 3, in- stead of the regular Tuesday.

Winston

By MRS. GEORGE BACHER
Community club members and their families are invited to a weiner roast on the grounds near the Winston community hall on Thursday evening, June 22. Each member is asked to bring only enough weiners for his own fam- ily.

The Winston Chamber of Com- merce will meet Tuesday evening, June 27. All business people of the vicinity are urged to be on hand at this meeting as the elec- tion of officers has been postponed until a large majority of the com- munity's business people can at- tend the meeting. The meeting will be held at the Winston Electric building.

A number of ladies from this vicinity, representing the Winston community club, attended the dance sponsored by the Lady Elks at the Veterans hospital in Rose- burg last Monday evening. Lady Elks attending from Winston were Mrs. Frank True, Mrs. Oscar Amundson, Mrs. Cecil Callahan and Mrs. W. F. Echell. Other ladies attending from the com- munity were Mrs. James Butler, Mrs. Elmer Hunter and Mrs. Charles McCord.

Mrs. Glenn Wilson left Monday morning for Portland where she will board the streamliner for St. Louis, Mo., after spending a week with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Art Gastorf and son, Tommy, in Winston. The Gastorf moves here from the city and purchased a small ranch from Jim Sims. Gastorf is employed by the St. Helen's Woodworking company in Roseburg.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bacher spent Sunday visiting in Elkton and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tedrick and daughters, Sannie and Verna are planning to move to Medford in the near future. They have sold their Winston property.

Winston was without power for about two hours Saturday morning due to a break in one of the main power lines on the Harry Winston property in Winston section, about a quarter mile south of the Win- ston bridge. Residents of the vic- inity investigated when peculiar torch-like flames, accompanied by billows of smoke, arose from the area. Residents notified Copco. Linemen immediately shut off the power in the neighborhood and the fire was quickly brought under control. No damage was done al- though had the break occurred only a few feet nearer the road it would probably have burned the new tractor belonging to Winston, which was parked in his rear or- chard.

Paul Helweg, large scale or- chardist in Sutherlin and Winston, was a business visitor in the com- munity Saturday morning. Hel- weg's orchard in Winston is the popular meeting place of Douglas county orchardists when spring pruning demonstrations are held by the county agent.

They have leased out the cafe. It is the first time the Hustons have lived in Oregon and they say they are delighted with its scen- ery and climate.

Before moving to Canyonville they were in the fruit growing busi- ness in Tulare county where they still own a grape vineyard.

Somebody suggested that Pres. Truman and Stalin go to the Moral Re-Armament Center in Switzer- land and peel potatoes together in the interest of friendship. Both na- tions probably have enough "beets" to go with any amount of potatoes that might be manured by Mr. T. and Uncle Joe. The idea is a-peeling, but we wonder if the potatoes would be the only ones to get a trimming. We never heard of K. P. duty ever lifting anybody's morale, but we could be wrong. Anyway, from the surplus reports last fall, the U. S. should have plenty of spuds to give the knife-wielders a real treat.

Judy Garland Thought At Film Career's End

studio considers her one of its big- gest attractions. Yet it has re- placed her in three films in two years because she "caused us em- barrassment, delay, inconvenience and loss of morale among co-work- ers." One spokesman said she added as much as 20 percent to the cost of a film.

Just what, exactly, is the trouble has been the subject of speculation and rumor. This much is fact: The first indication that she and MGM were having trouble was her removal from the cast of "Barkleys of Broadway" in 1948 because she was "physically unable to play the role."

In March 1949 Judy announced she and her second husband, Vin- cente Minelli, director of some of her best films, were separating. They are now reconciled.

In May, after a month of costly shooting on "Annie Get Your Gun," she was dropped for "not reporting to work." MGM sent her to Boston for a "long rest" and financed medical treatments. Two months later Judy was back, 15 pounds heavier and asking for work.

She rested six months, made "Summer Stock," which is getting good reviews, but was suspended again Saturday for "continually de- laying" rehearsals for "Royal Wed- ding."

Her manager, Carlton Alsop, was quoted as saying after the cutting: "It's a shame she was called to work so soon. Judy is broke. In Mary Pickford's day you would own United Artists. But in Judy Garland's day, with all the taxes, you wind up with nothing, despite a big salary."
