Russia Again Protests U.S. Surveyors in Iran

MOSCOW, June 23 — (AP) — Soviet Russia today published a new protest against Iran's use of American technicians for surveys along the Russian-Iranian frontier.

The second Russian protest made clear that the Soviets believed the Americans are spying along the frontier under the guise of seeking oil for the Iranian government.

(A similar Russian accusation made public on May 15 was denied in both Tehran and Washington. A state department spokesman then termed the Russian charges "utter and complete nonsense." Iran, replying to the note from Moscow, said "no activities are being carried out on the northern areas or anywhere else in Iran contrary to good neighborly relations.")

The latest Soviet note to Iran, southern neighbor said an Iranian reply to Russia's earlier complaint had been unsatisfactory. The Russians again demanded that Iran "remove these abnormal conditions."

Blame Placed For Flimsy Defense Of Wake Island

BALTIMORE, June 23 — (AP) — Brig. Gen. James P. S. Devereux (ret.) declared Wednesday Wake Island's defense was handicapped by American commanders who considered "garbage trucks and the like" more essential than radar.

The slight, wiry figure, who commanded the Marine detachment at Wake at the start of World War II, related the events of the Japanese onslaught publicly for the first time in an address before the Maryland volunteer air force reserve. He is a candidate for the Republican nomination to Maryland's second district seat in the House of Representatives. It is his first try at politics.

He said his purpose in discussing the wake campaign was "to point out what happened before," and to warn that "unless we are careful, it might happen again."

Radar assigned to the tiny Wake island garrison was in Pearl harbor before the Japanese attacked Dec. 8, 1941 (Wake island time), he related.

"The only explanation as to why it was not sent in spite of the dire need for it that I have been able to determine is the fact that garbage trucks and the like for the navy station were considered more essential than radar," he said.

He explained his mission on the island was to repel minor raids. His forces were not expected to withstand a full-scale attack.

Wake island was attacked by the Japanese only a few hours after the Pearl Harbor attack on Dec. 8, 1941 (Wake island time). The 518 Marine and naval officers, and men held out until Dec. 23, 1941.

Devereux was interned throughout the war. After his release, he retired from the service and now lives on a large farm not far from Baltimore.

MEMORY SPUR

SALEM — (AP) — Marion county clerk Harlan Judd believes he has the answer to the problem of people forgetting their voting precinct.

His office now issues a wallet-sized card to each voter as he registers or changes registration. The card contains the voter's precinct number, name and address.
