The fact that the government itself announced the church move officially indicates that the government will accept it as a surrender, demand that the bishops take an oath of allegiance to Hungary's constitution, and instruct its clergy to sign the "Stockholm peace petitions,"

The bishops decided two days ago to ask the government for conferences at which heads of 63 religious orders should also be present. They would represent the 11,000 monks and nuns in 636

The church has been in passive resistance to the government since the conviction of Mindszenty but the strife was inflamed after bishops, heads of orders, priests, monks and nuns generally refused to sign the Stockholm peace appeal.

The document, drafted by the "partisans of peace" at a congress in Stockholm, is considered by the government as the highest stan-dard of democratic belief and loy-alty. It calls for outlawing atom weapons.

Clergy Refuses To Sign
The government said that 7,200,000 Hungarians signed the petitions but the Catholic clergy did not. Priests referred only to a bishops' declaration, carefully worded and resembling the Stockholm appeal, which was declared to have been issued in the name of all the Catholic clergy.

Truman Predicts Taft's Defeat In Ohio Race

WASHINGTON, June 23. — (P)
—At his news conference yesterday, President Truman said sharply that if he were voting in Ohio —where Senator Taft, Republican, is running for reelection—he would vote the straight Democratic ticket as is always does. He predicted that Taft's Democratic opponent, Joseph T. Ferguson, will win.

The question of Ohio politics came up when Mr. Truman was asked about a statement by Ohio's Governor Frank Lausche that he had not decided whether he would vote for Taft or Ferguson, Lausche is a Democrat and the President was asked whether he would comment on the governor's "indecision," He said no. WASHINGTON, June 23. - (A)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., June 23 — (IP) — This is a little story about how to save money or—how to become rich in 107 years.

It has to do with a ten dollar bill deposited Dec. 1, 1842. Interest has swelled the deposit to $900. The father of Charles D. Oliver made the deposit to the account of his son in the Worcester county institution for savings at Worchester, Mass.

institution for savings at Worchester, Mass.

Years later, Oliver transferred the account to his daughter who now is eighty-years-old Mrs. Mabel Oliver Ross of St. Petersburg.

She will cash in her accout this week and spend the money for what she calls "good purposes."

When grandfather Oliver depusited that money savings accounts were paying eight percent interest. You know what they pay now.

By 1865 the deposit had expanded to $34.70. In 1887 when Grover Cleveland was president it was worth $111.56. By the turn of the century it had reached $186.38.

At the start of the first world war the account had jumped to $320.74 and to $676.29 inthe early thirties.

Veto Bans Suit Against Indians

Against Indians

WASHINGTON, June 23—(A?)—
A veto by President Truman spared the Klamath Indians $81,933 in law suits yesterday. It may however, be only temporary relief.

The President vetoed three bills that would have permitted the Forest Lumber Co., Kansas City, Mo., and two other concerns to file suits for that amount.

Mr. Truman said the money represent is increases in the price paid by the lumber companies for timber cut from the Indian reservation above the initial basic price of $5.08 a thousand feet. The bills would have permitted the Forest Lumber Co., the Algoma Lumber Co., and the Lamm Lumber Co., to sue in the court of claims.

Under agreements made by the Klamath Indian agency, the price was raised from $5.08 in 1922 to $5.48 on April 1, 1928. The companies paid, but under protest. The supreme court later overruled an award for the full amount by the court of claims.

Mr. Truman said in his veto message that he is not opposed to a further review of the claims, and that he would approve legislation giving the claims court permission to reconsider the timber sale.
