

Threats May Force Foe Of Union To Change Residence

CANTON, Ill., June 21 —(AP)—Lloyd H. Sidener said Thursday that his family has been so frequently threatened because of his fight with the United Mine Workers union that they plan to seek refuge in Florida.

The family will not return to Canton, the miner said, "until there's a court order prohibiting those guys from making those silly telephone calls and threats."

Sidener was president of the mine union local until he obeyed a federal court order and went back to his job during the strike last winter. At that time, John L. Lewis, the union's national president also had publicly ordered the men back to work, but Sidener said it was accompanied by another secret order to the contrary.

After the strike ended on March 5, Sidener was ousted from the local presidency and the union fined him $50,000. He said that action was imposed as a penalty because he attempted to start a back-to-work movement among his fellow miners.

Sidener, a $175-a-week shovel operator at the Buckheart mine, has been on leave of absence from his job since June 1, because, he said, of telephoned threats against his life. He had worked only two days since the union abated the $50,000 fine and restored him to membership and the job.

He said his wife is suffering a "nervous condition" as a result of the continued threats. Sidener did not say when the family will leave here or where they will live in Florida.

He said, however, he is not quitting his job at the mine here, adding that $175-a-week jobs "are hard to find."

Ten-Year Ashland Resident Jailed As Ohio Fugitive

ASHLAND, June 23 — (AP)—A cafe operator was held here today as a 1939 escapee from the Mansfield, O., state reformatory.

Sheriff Howard Gault identified him as Roy Harrison, known here for 10 years as Carl Moore.

Gault said that Harrison was fingerprinted at Medford last month when arrested on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. He was released on bail, but his fingerprints were circulated to police departments. Ohio authorities, he said, identified him as a man who had escaped at Mansfield after serving eight months of a one-to-15-year burglary term.

Ohio authorities are expected here in a few days. Local phones will be waived to permit his return to Ohio.

Careless Smokers can cause this difference

The forest at your left is at your mercy. Toss a burning cigarette out your car window, and you may reduce this land to the unproductive waste at the right.

Careless smokers cause a quarter of our forest fires. They are responsible for approximately 20,000 forest fires a year. Such thoughtlessness can easily nullify long years of effort to produce new forests.

America's very security depends upon the productive capacity of our forest lands. Keeping Oregon green means more than keeping Oregon beautiful. For the products of forests are as essential to life as shelter, as necessary as bread. Help keep Oregon's forests growing by remembering to put out your cigarettes before you throw them away.
