Food Price Hikes Affect Budget Of Camp Fire Girls

Camp Fire council members at meeting Monday at the chamber of commerce office discussed concern over the rising price of food in relation to the Camp Tye food budget for the three-week sessions which began Sunday.

Mrs. Jack Chapman, chairman of the menu committee said the committee is endeavoring to keep the food budget within bounds. It was suggested that groups of parents or friends may provide treats for the campers as an aid to the menu. Anyone wishing to do this may contact Mrs. Chapman, 377-R, or Mrs. Wm. Urath, 1012-R and the treats will be picked up. With campers and counselors, the group totals 70, according to Mrs. Chapman.

Among items which will help the food budget are fruits, oranges, watermelon, fresh farm produce, cold drinks, candy bars, jams or jellies, chickens, turkeys, cakes or cookies. Any of these items pro-

Glide Grange Gets Report On State Convention

Mrs. Harry Hatfield reported on her trip to the Oregon State Grange sessions at Ontario at the Glide Grange meeting Saturday evening. After the business session two motion pictures were shown.

Past Master M. H. McCord presided during the business meeting. The Glide Grange will hold its annual picnic at Wolf creek on Little river Sunday, July 16. Those attending are asked to bring potluck lunch and table service. All Grange members and their friends are invited.

A dance is scheduled for Grange members and friends at the Grange hall Saturday evening, July 22. The Home Economics club scheduled a meeting for Wednesday at the Grange hall.

aided will aid in lowering the cost of the food bills it was pointed out. Many of the supplies were bought prior to camp opening. But perishables listed in the rising food cost which went into effect Monday morning, are causing the food bills to go above the budget allowed for the campers.

Decision Favors Union Officials On Non-Red Oath

WASHINGTON, July 12 — The U.S. court of appeals for the district of Columbia ruled by 2-1 vote Monday that national officers of the AFL and CIO need not file non-Communist oaths before AFL and CIO unions can take case before the National Labor Relations board.

This decision was directly contrary to a ruling May 5 by the U.S. court of appeals at New Orleans. The supreme court may eventually have to decide which of the two courts is right.

Monday ruling came in a case involving the West Texas Utilities Company, Inc., Abilene, Tex., which the NLRB had found guilty of refusing to bargain with three locals of the AFL Electrical Workers. The court upheld a board order which directed the company to bargain.

At the time the case originated, AFL national officers had not filed non-Communist affidavits. They have since filed them.

The question for the appeals court was whether the AFL national officers came under the so-called "non-Communist" section of the Taft-Hartley labor law. That section prohibits a union from filing charges against an employer until its officers and the officers of "any national or international labor organization of which it is an affiliate or constituent unit" have filed affidavits.

The court majority — made up of Judges Henry W. Edgerton and David L. Bazelon — decided that the AFL and CIO are more like confederations, alliances, or trade associations and that the provision does not apply to their national officers. Judge Wilbur K. Miller dissented.

The facts and issues were essentially similar in the case the New Orleans court decided in May. The five-man NLRB has itself taken the stand that AFL and CIO national officers did not have to file non-Communist affidavits. It differed with the NLRB general counsel, Robert N. Denham, who has independent powers under the Taft-Hartley act. In 1947 Denham

Camas Valley Minister Hurt In Truck Accident

Rev. Wesley Durland of Camas Valley had both feet crushed Tuesday morning when a logging truck, owned by Alva Bartley, backed over him.

Rev. Mr. Durland had been driving the water wagon for the C. & D. Logging company. James Combs was bringing him from work when they stopped to help the trucker, who had lost a load of logs.

Rev. Mr. Durland was walking away from the back of the truck when it was put in reverse. Someone saw it was going to strike Durland and called in time for him to move enough to save his life, but not in time for him to clear his feet from the wheels. James Combs rushed him to Mercy hospital. He was taken Tuesday evening to a Portland hospital for surgery.
