Swimming Meet Program Rapidly Nears Completion

Plans for the second annual Southern Oregon Invitational swimming meet, to be held in Roseburg Aug. 11 and 12, are rapidly nearing completion, announced meet chairman Walt Britt.

The sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce urge townspeople who have rooms available to house visiting swimmers to contact the Chamber of Commerce office, phone 78, and leave their names, addresses and numbers of available beds for the out of town participants.

It is anticipated 200 swimmers, representing the foremost athletic clubs in the Northwest, will be here for the meet. The Oregon AAU sanctioned swimming results will be entered as the official AAU records of this year.

The Junior Chamber sponsored a similar function last year, and this meet promises to be even better, the committee announces. Already several swimming groups have released tentative lists of participants and a big turnout of the best swimmers of this area is indicated.

Also scheduled to appear in exhibition is Al Patnik, former diving star and Olympic champion, of Seattle. Patnik will bring with him water clowns, who usually add spice to this sort of show. A local water ballet is also being trained to present a feature attraction.

It is very important that townspeople with available rooms contact the chamber, announced housing chairman Rod Dodson. These out of town swimmers are paying their own expenses, except lodging, and an appeal is made to Roseburg residents to provide lodging for them. No meals are required, as the swimmers are under strict diets.

Volunteers, Not Draftees, Given Choice Of Service

M-Sgt. Grimm, in charge of the Army and air force recruiting station at Roseburg, reminded young men that the choice of service among the various branches of the army is given only to volunteers and that draftees do not have any choice of service.

Volunteers who enlist in the army for a period of three years or more may choose to serve in the airborne, armored cavalry, chemical corps, coast artillery corps, corps of engineers, corps of military police, field artillery, infantry, medical department ordnance, quartermaster corps, signal corps, transportation corps and may also enlist for assignment to the Far East. In addition, many volunteers are eligible for schooling and technical training.

"The work of the Selective Service is to provide young men to fill vacant positions," said M-Sgt. Grimm. "Therefore, their personal wishes with regard to type and place of service cannot be considered. I advise all young men of draft age who wish to make a choice of service to come to see me before their draft notices arrive. Once you are called by Selective Service, we cannot accept you as a volunteer."

The population of Helmsstedt, German communications center, is about 18,000.

Radio Editor To Officiate At Jacksonville Fete

JACKSONVILLE—Hal Burdick Sr., San Francisco, CBS "Night Editor" is scheduled to officiate at crowning ceremonies of the third annual Jacksonville Gold Rush jubilee, to introduce her court and narrate the story of the Jacksonville historical pageant Aug. 5, during the two-day jubilee festivities here, according to P. E. "Scotty" Matheny, general chairman.

Crowning ceremonies are to take place at 11 a.m., Saturday and the pageant is to begin at 8:30 p.m. that night on the local school grounds.

Burdick's colorful career has been interwoven with newspaper and radio work and legitimate stage experience. Producer, writer and narrator of "NBC Night Editor" he appeared for 10 years on Sunday evenings on CBS network and more recently has appeared five nights weekly on CBS.

For 15 years he was a newspaper reporter, feature editor and city editor for the Seattle Times. His first job with a newspaper, however, came long before he had been inside a news room. When nine years old he worked as a newsboy.

An interest in the stage intervened between the time he was a newspaper boy and with the Times. Graduated from the University of Washington, he worked as a stagehand and won a coast championship in an oratorical contest. He acted in stage productions of the University of Washington players and later was director for the Wilkes stock company. His first radio program was successful in Seattle and was so successful he was invited to take it to San Francisco.

U. S. Vice Consul Slain By Tibetan Border Guards

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The state department reported that American Vice Consul Douglas S. Mackieran was killed by Tibetan border guards while trying to escape from Communist-held northwest China across the Himalaya mountains.

The incident occurred last April 13 but announcement last week was the first public word of it.

Mackieran and his camel caravan apparently were mistaken for bandits or Communist raiders. The shooting was described as an accident.

Meanwhile the Tibetan government has expressed apologies. The sketchy report received here said two "natives" in the caravan were killed and one was wounded in the shooting. The only other American in the group, Frank Besac, Lodi, Calif., escaped injury and is now enroute to New Delhi.

Mackieran closed down the U. S. consulate at Tihwa, in isolated Sinkiang province last Sept. 27, just before the city was turned over to advancing Communists. Accompanied by Besac, who was on the scene as a research scholar, Mackieran and three native servants set out on the 1,200-mile trip across the lofty Himalayas.

They shifted from camps to horses and finally to jeeps when passes were blocked by winter storms.
