

Traditional Tree Twists Record Bluebirds' Camp

Another twist was added to the two young myrtle trees at Camp Tye Sunday when two outstanding campers, Janice O'Brien and Maryanna Wells, were chosen to participate in this annual tradition. This special event was begun the first year of Camp Tye's summer sessions and the trees now boast three twists. The trees are twisted week by the Bluebirds and will be a symbol in the years to come of attendance at Bluebirds at summer camp.

The tradition was carried out at the morning service, after which the girls cleaned the camp, enjoyed their Sunday dinner and greeted their parents. Seventy-two girls attended the last camp week.

Carrying out the theme of Walter Pixies, the Bluebirds learned camp traditions the first evening of their camp week, Sunday, July 23. The following day they signed for small classes and the group also heard a talk by a forest ranger. Wednesday was carnival day at Myrtle lodge. The camp welcomed back Janice O'Brien who had been taken to town for a cut eye.

Thursday was hike day followed by a bonfire and marshmallow roast and treasure hunt. Counselors and Bluebirds participated in a bubble gum contest.

Pirate day descended Friday and the flag of Jolly Roger was much in evidence at the banquet. The tables were decorated with Jolly Roger rafts and each girl found an eye mask at her plate for a place card.

Saturday morning the Bluebirds cooked breakfast on the rocks. They used aluminum foil as skill lets for eggs and toasted bread on sticks. Sudds day followed and the girls turned mermaids during the swim period. That evening each cabin decorated a small boat, placed a candle in it and launched their "dream boats", with a wish to return to camp next year. After taps the campers were serenaded by the counselors.

Social Security Bill Phase Hits White House Snag

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman Tuesday urged administration leaders to fight a provision in the new social security bill restricting the secretary of Labor's power to withhold unemployment compensation funds from states failing to meet federal standards.

Mr. Truman called key house Democratic leaders to the White House to tell them he opposes the amendment tacked onto the bill by Senator Knowland (R-Calif.).

House majority leader McCormack (D-Mass) told reporters after the conference that "The President is hopeful that every effort will be made to eliminate this amendment or revise it materially."

Senate majority leader Lucas (D-Ill) had hinted earlier that the President might veto the bill expanding the social security program if it comes to his desk bearing the Knowland amendment.

The amendment was tacked on to the legislation as a house-entire committee reached agreement on a compromise measure.

The compromise would bring 10,000,000 additional workers under old age insurance, increase benefits up to 100 percent, and more than double social security payroll taxes in the next 20 years.

The only way the compromise can be altered and a provision eliminated is through a motion to recommit the whole report for further consideration, by house-entire conferees. If it is not recommended, then the whole measure must be approved or rejected on the floor.

Ultra-Violet Light Slated At Exhibit

One of the most spectacular displays listed for the Rock and Mineral show, to be held at the Roseburg junior high Friday, Saturday and Sunday, will be the ultra-violet light display.

Ultra-violet light is a light that is shorter, in wave length, than white or colored light, and is invisible to the average natural eye. Special lamps have been designed that give a small amount of visible violet light and a large amount of invisible ultra-violet.

Certain minerals absorb some of the invisible light, change its wave length, and radiate it in colors visible to the eye. This property is known as fluorescence.

These fluorescent colors, usually different than the object's natural color, have an unusual characteristic in that they are "live" colors, similar to the luminous watch faces.

In minerals, these colors range from the delicate shimmering pinks of some calcite crystals, through blues, greens, yellows, and crimsons, to the violently brilliant scarlet and green mixture of Franklinite. Some of the deeper red calcites seem almost too hot to touch, for they glow like live embers.

Always a very popular, colorful display, a large selection of fluorescent minerals will be shown free of charge at the Rock and Mineral show, sponsored by the Umpqua Mineral club.

LEOPOLD STEPS DOWN—To avoid civil war in Belgium, King Leopold, III (right) announced in Brussels that he would step down from the throne and delegate his powers to his son, Crown Prince Baudouin (left), then abdicate in favor of the son on the prince's 31st birthday, Sept. 7, 1951. Leopold, who returned from exile recently, fell into disfavor because of his associations with the Nazis during World War II.

More Freight Cars Readied For Lumber Cargoes

PORTLAND, — (AP) — Western railroads have made at least 1,000 more freight cars available for lumber shipment as a result of an appeal by the West Coast lumber's association, an industry spokesman says.

The railroads agreed to abolish what is known as "slow movement routing" of eastbound lumber shipments to speed the flow of cars, K. C. Batchelder, traffic manager of the association, said.

Normally, a freight car of lumber moves east to Chicago in eight days, Batchelder explained. But some shippers, by arrangement with the railroads, were taking 17 days to move the lumber east, permitting them to bargain for premium prices.

An associated committee, headed by B. L. Nutting, Medford, asked the railroads to eliminate the practice, pointing out that faster movement of lumber would aid the national defense program.

Batchelder said Oregon and northern California lumber mills received only 53 percent of needed freight cars for the week ending July 29th.

Some southern Oregon mills were forced to lay off crews because lumber was piling up on their shipping docks.

THEY LIKE GEORGE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Almost every club in the National football league has approached Coach Red Strader of the New York Yanks with an attractive trade bait in an effort to wrest back field star George Taliaferro away from him. Red's conclusion, regarding the recently obtained "rookie of the year," is "if he's that good, I think we'd better keep him."

DAVIS IN DRAFT?

LOS ANGELES, — (AP) — Former army football star, Glenn Davis, has registered for the draft and will be placed in 4-A classification because he has completed three years of service, one of them in Korea.

Davis, 25, now a pro gridder, with the Los Angeles Rams, resigned his commission March 1 so that he could get into football. He told newsmen yesterday that he did not retain his commission as a reserve lieutenant and "I'm just like anybody else in this draft."

Draft officials said it was unlikely that Davis would be put into uniform in the near future.
