

By CAROL KERR

Anyone calling KRNR and simply asking for "Bob" would be out of luck, unless he knew his party's last name. Three "Bobs" are employed by KRNR. They are: Bob McCarl, Bob Grant and Bob Weber. McCarl is our day-shift announcer. Grant our news and evening announcer. Weber is a salesman and copywriter in the commercial department. On a much larger scale, the "Bob" problem at Hollywood's Mutual Don Lee Broadcasting system combined radio and television operation dwarfs our own somewhat. There are 29 "Bobs" employed there. Their surnames follow: Arne, Bullock, Clark, Shepherd, Wagoner, Smalley, Hecker, Hartnett, Hoag, Anderson, Greene, Fred, Bonnenkamp, Huribut, Bence, Shannon, Moon, Moody, Lehman, Stone, Turnbull, Schulz, Brougham, Quinan, Bomboy, De Vol, Armstrong and Beach. King. Only existing danger in this situation, it would seem, would be in simply yelling "Hey, Bob!" and having, as in our case, three "Bobs" appear, and at Don-Lee, a bombardment of 29!

so with its genial emcee, Bob McCarl. Slowing down proceedings considerably are "Tune-O" players who think they've hit upon the winning series before all the tunes have actually been aired... and call in before it's technically possible to win... Then there are inevitably a number of calls by "beginners" inquiring "how to play" the game, which interrupt the program itself and keep the lines busy for potential winners. And last, but not least, McCarl is besieged, following each program by phoned-in accusations of every description. The enthusiasm with which the program has met, however, makes up for the above discordancy. An overwhelmingly large number of radio homes find afternoon household activities interrupted each week-day from 2:00 to 2:30 p.m. with a quick dash to the writing-desk for a batch of "Tune-O" cards... ears glued to the radio speaker... and one hand on the telephone ready to call number 4.

TONIGHT: "Veterans' Information Guide" (7:45-9:00 p.m.), "Melody Time" (8:00-8:30 p.m.), "Citizen-of-the-week interview on 'Jovin Jamboree'" (8:30-9:00 p.m.), last in the series of transcribed talks by Representative Harris Ellsworth (9:30-9:45 p.m.), and on "Music You Want" (10:15-10:45 p.m.) tenor Jussi Bjorling will perform a wide assortment of operatic arias in a romantic vein by Verdi, Mascagni, Puccini and Gounod.

Trials, tribulations of "Tune-O"—In its third big month on the air, "Musical Tune-O" (2:00-2:30 p.m. Mon. thru Fri.) has proved to be a huge success with afternoon listeners... but sometimes not

Federal Supervision Of Industrial Pension Plans Predicted By Morse

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Senator Morse (R-Ore.) predicted that all industrial pension plans eventually will come under public supervision. He said unions and employers soon will be unable to "sit down and do what they want with these pension and welfare funds."

Morse said some public supervision is necessary because so many recent pension plans negotiated in steel, coal, automobile and other industries "are dovetailed into the social security program."

represents more than 3000,000 Bell employees.

Beirne testified before a senate labor subcommittee studying labor-management relations in the telephone and related industries. Bell company officials will testify later.

Beirne said Bell system executives had ignored formal requests for discussion of the pension plan which he said now contains a trust account of more than $1,000,000.

The pension system was founded by the company in 1912 and employees do not contribute to it directly from their pay.

Morse commented that pension plan funds, under sole control of the company, are being invested back into the industry. He called this "financial in-breeding."
