Injunction Asked On Crop-Support Prices

PORTLAND — (P) — Gerald MacNamara has opened a one-man campaign here to get the government to stop paying crop-support prices to farmers.

He figures it is costing him money. So he filed suit in federal district court, seeking an injunction against the practice.

MacNamara, a real estate operator and builder here, argued that he not only was paying taxes that wound up in the farmer's pocket, but also was paying higher food prices as a result.

Four of five people are paying taxes so that the fifth person, a farmer, can get the crop-support payments, he reasoned.

"To tax four out of five of the citizenry for the gain and special aggrandizement of the other fifth," is unconstitutional, he concluded.

Rejection Of Vets' T-B Claims Will Be Reviewed

NO DODGE NEXT TIME

ASTORIA — (P) — Solicitors for Clatsop county's community chest campaign will forego residence calls this year.

Chairman Orval Easton said: "To many people have been giving us the run-around. They tell us at home that their husbands subscribe, while the breadwinner insists that his wife paid at home."

Solicitors this year will catch the husbands where they work.

Case records of World War II veterans, whose applications for compensation for service-connected pulmonary tuberculosis have been rejected, will be reviewed automatically by the Veterans administration to determine whether they qualify for benefits under the recently-enacted public law 573.

The new law increases the "presumptive period" for tuberculosis from one year to three years from date of discharge from the armed forces.

Presumption of service-connection means that, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, a disease which becomes manifest within the specified period to the extent that it is at least 10 percent disabling is presumed to have had its origin while the veteran was in service.

The VA said the new law also applies to Spanish-American war veterans, and that their rejected claims also will be reviewed.

World War I veterans are not affected, since they were granted a comparable presumptive period some years ago.

In the case of claims filed prior to June 23, 1950, effective date of the new law, payments on awards will be retroactive to that date.

Awards on claims filed later will be effective from date of claim, the VA said.
