

Federal Taxes Next Year To Be Highest In U.S. History, Senator George Announces

BY FRANCIS M. LEMAY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The nation can expect federal taxes next year to reach a record high, near $50,000,000,000—an overall increase of about $12,000,000,000, Senator George (D-Ga.) says.

George, whose position as chairman of the senate finance committee makes him an authority, said Congress will take up in January a "second installment" tax bill, to collect about $7,000,000,000 more revenue to help pay for the fighting in Korea and to bolster the nation's defenses.

He told newsmen the second bill will include an excess profits tax on corporations, effective Jan. 1, 1951, to yield between $4,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 a year. The $7,000,000,000 measure will be piled on top of the $5,000,000,000 tax increase approved unanimously by the senate finance committee Thursday. Both Senate and House are expected to okay the pending bill. The two bills would boost the annual tax take far above the $44,800,000,000 record set in 1945, the last year of World War II.

Expected Levies Listed

The Georgian said the bill probably would provide for:

1. An excess profits levy on corporations with possibly a similar levy on war-swollen earnings of individuals. However, George said that if such a tax is placed on individuals "it would not be drastically applied."

2. "Appropriately adjusted" taxes on co-ops, mutual organizations and building and loan associations.

3. Plugging of more tax law loopholes to prevent some individuals and businesses from escaping taxation. The bill now pending would close some loopholes.

4. A general overhauling of tax statutes to remove inequities in the present system.

George does not expect the second bill to raise further the taxes on normal income of individuals and corporations.

Under finance committee direction, a staff of experts now is exploring the possibilities of a sales tax, or a transactions tax, along with studies of taxation on excess profits, mutual organizations and building and loan associations.

Red Tape Required To Get United Nations Flag

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The county board of supervisors wants to fly the United Nations flag in the Plaza Court of Flags here. It found it first must:

1. Obtain a purchase permit for the flag from Trygve Lie, UN secretary.

2. Send an official order to a New York manufacturer who holds exclusive sales rights to the flag.

3. Wait for the manufacturer to send a price list showing costs on various sizes.

When the flag finally arrives, a special ceremony will be conducted at the Plaza.
