Winston

By MRS. GEORGE BACHER

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stonebraker and daughters, Melissa and Phyllis, and son, Redell, spent the weekend in eastern Oregon. In Bly they attended to property interests, returning by way of Crater lake where they stopped to visit and take pictures.

On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Frank True and daughter, Susie, of Winston motored to the coast where they visited relatives.

Vacationing in California are Mr. and Mrs. LaVal Medford and son, Wayne. They plan to go as far as San Francisco, being away about a week.

Pear picking is slated to begin in this area this week. The crop is reportedly light in Winston this year.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bacher have received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. John E. Falls of Snyder, Tex., telling of "unusual and trying" crop conditions in that state. The Falls' were guests in the Bacher home last spring and at that time they reported Texas was in the grip of a severe drouth. The lack of rain coupled with hot, drying winds had made it impossible for them to get their spring planting done. In sharp contrast now comes their report that "it has rained every day" since their return. Four times they were forced to replant in mud and rain — and now the army worms, a common pest to cotton in the southern states, have hit their fields. Constant dusting has failed to halt their march and if cotton, their leading industry, fails to yield it will start a "minor depression" for the state, the Texas couple say.

Logging operations in this vicinity came to a stand-still several times during the past week due to the continued heat and low humidity. The hunidity was reported to have dropped 10 degrees in one hour on one occasion.

Mrs. A. R. Ownes was a Tuesday night guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kearby Masters in Winston. Mrs. Owens has just returned from a vacation in California. She returned to her home on Mulholland drive in Roseburg on Wednesday.

Miss Yvonna Stonebraker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stonebraker of Winston, was in Grants Pass on Tuesday investigating the housing situation there. Miss Stonebraker who has been attending the Southern Oregon Normal school in Ashland has accepted a position as a primary teacher in a Grants Pass school for the next school year.

Sept. 5 marks the end of summer vacation for Winston scholars. It is on that date that the parade of text books and tight shoes begins as a record number of Winston's younger set trek back to the Dillard school. The principal, Harry Krug, reminds parents that beginners are to be accompanied by their mothers and that birth-certificates be brought on that date. The pre-school clinic will be held then. The cafeteria will not be open.

Congress Chat

By HARRIS ELLSWORTH, M.C.
Fourth Congressional Dist.

As this is written war news from Korea is still gloomy. We are down to the 5-yard line exerting all our power to force the invaders back. Meanwhile a great silence blasts our ears from the U. S. State department. Until June 25th all but a few determined individuals down there appeared to have forgotten all about Asia and the Pacific and were entranced with interesting activities in Europe. Then suddenly the fragment of Far-Eastern policy developed by those few was reversed and we began to oppose the march of communism in Asia. Now what? If we win the bloody war in Korea do we attempt to rebuild Korea from the 38th parallel south? Or do we march on through North Korea and attempt to actually unify that unfortunate country? What about Formosa? Our present policy is to quarantine that island until the communists have concentrated enough invasion barges and soldiers on the Chinese mainland to stage a landing on Formosa and capture it. What do we do then—have some more Americans killed in attempting to repel an invasion we are now encouraging?

To say that I have lost confidence in the secretary of state and all his works is an understatement. I think we need a house-cleaning there from the top down.

• • •

Aside from necessary time spent on the floor of the House during the consideration of legislation, which always takes first priority in this work, I have been devoting a great deal of my time these last several weeks attempting to promote some improvement in the car shortage. The outlook has been, and still is, discouraging. It has become a national problem now—not just a problem local to the Pacific States.

Recently I introduced a resolution in the House to direct the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce to investigate the car shortage, and after investigation and study bring to Congress its suggestions for relieving the shortage. Whether or not the House takes formal action on this resolution, the committee has been studying the matter. I presented the resolution more for the purpose of attracting the attention of all of the membership to the problem. As a matter of fact, I appeared before our subcommittee on transportation back in January and requested a full-scale study of the car supply problem by the committee. There seemed no need for action then but two days of hearings were held on the subject this spring. Nothing much developed from the hearings except the statement of Colonel J. Monroe Johnson, chairman of the Interstate Commerce commission, that the car supply on American railroads was decreasing and that there would be a shortage. His suggestion of a solution was that the government build some freight cars for emergency use in times of peak loading. I am now having a bill drafted which will carry out that general idea. It will be introduced in a few days.

The House will shortly go on a recess basis. It is now pretty well determined that no new legislation other than what may be necessary to deal with strictly emergency and thus far unforseen problems will be considered. Members who live reasonably near Washington will be able to go to their homes for a couple of weeks but I expect I shall have to stay here until some conference reports are completed. Practically everything requested by the President as a result of the war situation will have been acted upon by September 2. As of now, it has been determined that Congress will not formally adjourn until very late in the year. It will merely jog along on a recess basis, which means that all members can be called into session on 24 hours notice.

Example Of Ingratitude Given To Police Dept.

The Roseburg police department and several other local agencies learned Thursday it doesn't always pay to help a man in distress.

According to Chief Calvin H. Baird, his department was visited by Floyd Carl Conley, 33, who identified himself as a medically discharged World War II veteran and former logger out of work because of a woods accident.

Claiming he was physically unable to perform manual labor, other Roseburg agencies found Conley a job as cook and advanced him money to buy a white shirt.

Later in the day, Conley was back at the police station — but this time for a ten-day visit imposed by Judge Ira B. Riddle on a vagrancy charge. Crief Baird quoted the man as saying he spent the afternon drinking—on money intended for the shirt — and had lost his job before he started. Conley spent the night in the city jail. His hotel reservation, arranged by an interested agency, was cancelled.

Drafting Of Doctors, Dentists Asked In Bill

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson today asked Congress to permit a draft of doctors and dentists up to and including age 45 for the armed services.

The request was made in a letter to Chairman Vinson of the house armed services committee. Johnson enclosed a bill drawn up by the Defense department. Vinson introduced it in the House and said his committee would begin hearings Monday.
