

Grange Stand On Measures Given

PORTLAND — (P) — The Oregon Grange executive committee has listed its policy on nine state-wide ballot measures to be voted on in November.

Members were advised to vote "no" on the proposed legislative reapportionment question and the pension-group-backed proposal to kill off existing state welfare legislation.

No stand was taken on the veterans' bonus initiative.

Approved were:
 Boosting state legislators' pay from $40 a session to $600 a year; increasing the veterans' farm and home loan fund one-third; prohibiting daylight time unless adjoining states adopt the change; a proposed ban on promotional advertising for alcoholic liquor; permission for the state system of higher education to refund bonds; raising the basic school support funds.

Grange Master Elmer McClure said the committee believed the legislature should handle the reapportionment problem and anyway it didn't like the so-called "balanced" plan on the ballot.

Mergers Shift Attendance Of School Students

Many elementary students will find themselves going to different schools this fall as a result of several consolidations within the county, according to Kenneth Barneburg, county school superintendent.

These include:
 Hayhurst with Yoncalla.
 Reston with Tenmile, effective last spring. Olalla voted against consolidation but will suspend and send students to Tenmile on a tuition basis.

Gasley has consolidated with Myrtle Creek.

Leona and Cold Springs have consolidated. Two rooms are being added to the Leona school.

Melrose, Elgarose and Cleveland students will all go to a new school at Melrose. Two school buses will be operated, with four members in the faculty.

Winchester has added two rooms. Days Creek has added a gym. Myrtle Creek is building a 15-room addition and Sutherlin has
