Holiday Traffic Deaths To Be 435?

CHICAGO — (AP) — The National Safety Council said today there may be a record toll of 435 highway traffic deaths over the Labor day weekend.

The council's prediction was for the 78-hour period from 6 p. m. Friday until midnight Monday. It was made with the expectation that 35,000,000 cars will jam the nation's streets and highways over the long weekend. And, the council said, the usual critical minority of drivers will show unreasonable symptoms of great hurry, gross inattention or helpless confusion.

Traffic fatalities last Labor day weekend totaled 410, eclipsing the previous high of 310 for the Labor day holiday period in 1937. In all types of accidents last Labor day, 550 persons were killed, a record for the holiday. Included were 53 drownings and 87 deaths from miscellaneous causes. The previous high was 428 in 1937.

British Girls Best Dancers, U. S. Cadets' Verdict

LONDON — (AP) — British girls are "more advanced" and dance better than those in the United States.

This fearless judgment was handed down by 25 young American air cadets, homeward bound after a three weeks stay in Britain.

Before leaving in a U. S. air force Skymaster, they also told reporters:

1. British hospitality and food caused them to gain an average of seven pounds in weight.
2. British beer is too flat and too warm.
- Each cadet has the names and addresses of at least 15 British girls and has promised to write regularly.

Warning Leaflets Hint That United States Plans To Free North Korea Of Russian Grip

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter

Washington — (AP) — The question of whether the United States intends to carry the war on into Communist North Korea has developed a new and interesting facet.

From an American agency, the psychological warfare branch of the Far East command, came a broad hint to the citizens of North Korea that their Communist rulers will be ousted and the 38th parallel dividing line erased.

The suggestion is conveyed in an air raid warning leaflet being dropped in North Korea. It advises civilians to move away from the cities which have been converted into military targets by "your Communist leaders."

And it tells them they should join others who have left the cities so that "you can help build a strong, free Korea after the Communists have been driven out."

Conceding that this is a psychological maneuver, it still is noteworthy that a United States agency has suggested to a Russian satellite that its Communist government will be tossed out. A "free" Korea would mean that the artificial boundary between North and South would be wiped out.

This would be strong medicine for Moscow to take.

The Russians created the North Korean satellite state, using as a pretext a situation which developed when the World War II allies accepted the surrender of the Japanese armies. As explained by Secretary of State Acheson, the 38th parallel was "intended to be purely a military line for the purposes of accepting surrender."

Whether it is the intention of the United States to do more than rid South Korea of the invading Red armies or to keep an eventual counter-offensive rolling on across the 38th parallel and up through North Korea is not clear. Presumably any such decision would require United Nations concurrence.

More than a military operation would be involved in decision to advance into North Korea and defeat both the Red army and the Red government.

It would concern a fundamental matter of international policy.

Here would be a question not only of stopping the spread of Russian communism into new areas (the already existing policy of "containment") but going beyond that point, of moving into Soviet-dominated peoples from the grip of Moscow, and releasing their Russia already is nervous over Tito's independence in Yugoslavia and over rumors of unrest among other satellite nations in that part of the world. To lose North Korea might mean the beginning of a crumbling process at the periphery of her world. A precedent for restless satellites would be established.

Wife Enjoins Mate From Talking To Her Rival

WICHITA, Kas. — (AP) — A Wichita woman got a court injunction to stop another woman from talking to her husband.

Mrs. Esther C. Pierce told the court her home was a happy one from the date of her marriage in 1934 until Mrs. Ida Bauers started going with her husband, Charles E. Pierce, about four months ago.

Mrs. Bauers' attorney contended there was no legal foundation for such injunction proceedings and filed notice of appeal when Judge Charles McClintock issued temporary order barring Mrs. Bauers from meeting or talking to Pierce.

Pierce's side of the story was not brought out.

'Toy' Pistol Proves Real; Boy, 3, Shoots Nursemaid

CHESTER, Pa. — (AP) — Police said a nursemaid was shot Wednesday night with a pistol she had given to a three-year-old boy, thinking it was a toy.

Mrs. Peggy Rose, 34, of Chester, managed to reach the home of a neighbor. She was taken to a hospital, where doctors said she was in serious condition with a back wound.

Police said Mrs. Rose told them she gave a .22 calibre pistol to three-year-old David Palmer after finding the weapon on a windowsill in the home of her employer — the boy's father, Jackson Palmer.

Mrs. Palmer, an expectant mother, was in a hospital at the time. Palmer, a nightworker, told police the gun was a war souvenir he kept in a bureau drawer.
