Convicts Unmoved By Evangelist Graham's Talk

SALEM — (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham told 1,200 Oregon state prison convicts Wednesday they could "have peace, joy and satisfaction" in prison by accepting Jesus Christ.

persons are sinners, and that the convicts should join others in getting saved. "Christ is interested in your life," he declared. "God won't do more for you because we won't let him. We fight him. Let Jesus come into your hearts and take over." Graham told how Paul the apostle was happy in prison because he had accepted Christ, and he told the prisoners to do the same. "Every prison becomes a heaven when Jesus is with you," he said. The men appeared to pay close attention to what Graham said, but they showed no emotion.

daughter, Christine, left last week for Cedar Rapids, Ia., where they will visit for a month.

The Yoncalla Methodist church will hold their monthly potluck dinner at the church, immediately after Sunday school, Sunday, Sept. 3. A meeting of the board members will be held during the afternoon. Friends of the church are invited.
