ENGRAVING DEPARTMENT EXPANDS—Increased demands upon the News-Review department has required an increase in the department's staff. Engraver Tom Patty on left is shown with his assistant, Harry Jorgensen, formerly of Portland, who joined the News-Review force this week. They are inspecting a zinc plate engraved from an advertising layout, prepared by Artist Dan Mindolovich in the advertising department. With the addition of new equipment, considerable advertising copy is prepared for printing by the engraving department. Previously, only news pictures were engraved, and all advertising was handled by the mechanical department. Both Patty and Jorgensen are members of the Engravers union. (Picture by Paul

Weather Threatens To Keep Beef
Away From Butcher Shops This Fall

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The weather is threatening to keep a lot of beef away from butcher shops this fall and winter—and to hold meat prices higher than they otherwise might be.
The midwestern corn belt has stayed cool and wet — preventing proper development and ripening of corn before killing frosts are rive.
Faced with the prospect that a large quantity of corn may not harvest properly before frost, many farmers are rushing out to buy cattle to feed the prospective "soft" corn to. In doing so, they are competing with slaughterers for cattle which otherwise would be killed now.
"Soft" corn cannot be stored for long and cannot be sold, except at a sharp price discount. Neither is it eligible for government price-support loans.
Consequently, about the only way a farmer can get anything out of this immature corn is to feed it as soon as possible to meat animals, and hope that the eventual return from the livestock will give him something for the grain.
Corn needs hot weather during August and September to make it ripen and mature so that it can be stored for long and normal livestockfeeding operations. But weather in the Midwest during the past six weeks has been abnormally cold and wet.
As a consequence, much of the grain may not mature fully before killing frosts arrive.

The demand for cattle for grain feeding in the corn belt has been very strong during the past week or so. Heavy buying of cattle from western ranges — both by packers to meet consumer needs and by farmers for feeding — has sent prices to record levels for the year.
Much of the cattle moving to markets from ranges is of a dual-purpose character. It can be used for immediate slaughter or can be moved to farm feed lots for fattening to heavier weights.
From the consumers' standpoint, this diversion of cattle from slaughter pens has its favorable side. It may mean less beef in the months immediately ahead. But it will mean a larger tonnage next year than otherwise would be the case.

Cattle which would be slaughtered now at medium weights will be slaughtered next year with several hundred pounds more meat on them.
By the same token, diversion from current slaughter markets will tend to hold meat prices higher than they otherwise would be. But prices next year might well average lower than they would if normal livestock operations prevailed.

SYDNEY, Australia — (AP) — Dockers in all New Zealand ports and in the big Australian port of Sydney were on strike today. The walkouts involve some 15,000 men and scores of vessels.
