Stassen Not At Liberty To Say Why Talk Halted

NEW YORK — (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said Monday it would be at least 10 days before he could disclose his connection with "an important national matter" which he previously said caused him to cancel a Chicago speech last Friday.

He is "not prepared or at liberty as yet" to make an announcement, the president of the University of Pennsylvania and former governor of Minnesota told reporters. Although he canceled the Chicago speech scheduled three days ago, Stassen addressed the National Wholesale Druggists association and said he intended to speak in Washington Tuesday before the American Bar association. In Peoria, Sen. Lucas (D-Ill.) charged yesterday that Stassen yielded to Republican isolationist pressure in cancelling the Chicago speech.

KDND DIAL LOG

By CAROL KERR

Mr. Charles Coburn, star of Mutual-Don Lee's "Song of Liberty" series (Tuesdays, 8:00-8:30 p.m.), was recently honored on his 65th anniversary in the American Theatre. It was almost an accident that Mr. Coburn entered the theatre at all. Standing as a youth in front of the bright green door of the old Savannah Theatre, Georgia, Coburn suddenly found himself confronted by a man who'd popped through the selfsame bright green door, and who, thrusting a handful of programs at Coburn, said: "Hey, son, get rid of these." It was just exactly that that Charles Coburn did. (Today, in memory of the occasion, we enter a bright green front door in Charles Coburn's Hollywood home. At 17, he managed the very theatre where he began as program boy. At 20, he stuck out for New York. . . . and he found himself in several roles—all non-acting. Then, for 12 dollars a week he accepted the role of Ursus, the giant slave in "Quo Vadis" and since young Coburn was then slight, blond, and well over six feet, considerable padding was required to qualify him for the part of Ursus. Since then, he has lent his talent to more than 500 different parts during his lifetime in the theatre. With his wife, the late Ivah Willa Coburn, he formed the Coburn players, one of the truly fine repertory groups in the history of native theatre. Always Ivah and Charles acted together, and it was not until Mrs. Coburn died in 1935 that Charles Coburn turned to Hollywood. Since Hollywood claimed him, Charles Coburn has acted in more than fifty films. Three nominated for the Academy Award, Mr. Coburn has been once handed the coveted trophy. And now, he has entered the field of radio where on the Don Lee Broadcasting System he is heard each Tuesday night (8:00-8:30 p.m.) in the program series "Song of Liberty." For this series, Coburn recreates great American patriot speeches.

TONIGHT: "Song of Liberty" (8:00-8:30 p.m.) . . . "Jovin Jamboree" (8:30-9:00 p.m.) . . . In the fifth broadcast of the special series presenting various aspects of the Korean crisis, Senator Morse will present Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service. Sen. Morse in questioning General Hershey brings up up-to-date information in the drafting of manpower for the Armed Forces (8:30-9:45 p.m.). Prokofiev's "Romeo and Juliet" will be performed by Serge Koussevitzky and the Boston Symphony on "Music You Want" (10:15-10:45 p.m.).

Internal Revenue Bureau Gets Everything Ready For Passage Of New Tax Boost

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Everything is ready when Congress gives the go-ahead—for the boss to take the new and higher tax out of your paycheck, starting Oct. 1. Congress hasn't yet finally approved the bill to do that. And therefore the President hasn't been able to sign it into law. But there's plenty of time to do that before Oct. 1. And no hitch is expected.

Ever since 1943 the boss, under law, has been withholding taxes from your pay. He has been using a table provided by the Internal Revenue bureau's tax collectors. This table shows: How much tax should be deducted from each worker's pay, depending on how much he makes and how many exemptions he has, such as a wife or a dependent child.

With this new boost going into effect, new tables were needed. As mentioned, the deductions are supposed to start Oct. 1 although Congress has not yet formally approved the new tax. If the tax collectors waited until this formal approval was given, they wouldn't have time to get the new tables set up, printed, and mailed out to employers all over the United States by Oct. 1.

So the tax collectors had to take a chance—but not much of a chance, as you'll see—and act as though the tax bill already had been approved. They had 3,000,000 copies of the tables printed. These have been shipped out to the 64 district offices of the Internal Revenue bureau, waiting to be mailed to employers in each district. And they will be mailed as soon as the tax raise becomes law.

This is the background on what has happened: Before the Korean shooting started, the House passed a bill to cut the excise tax on such things as theater tickets, women's handbags, and so on. This was strictly a bill to cut taxes. This bill then went over to the Senate for approval. But then we got into the Korean fight and had to start re-arming. To pay for this re-arming, the President said taxes had to be raised on individuals and corporations. Since this meant more taxes, not less, were needed, the Senate junked the House bill and got to work on one of its own. The Senate bill left excise taxes uncut but raised the tax on individuals and businesses.

last-ditch stand, not a real stumbling block, for President Truman and his Democratic congressional leaders agreed there should be an excess profits tax but that it can be passed next January. The House, though, went on record as wanting action before then. But it did not hold up the general tax bill.

Therefore everyone, including the tax collectors, sat back confident that the tax-raising bill, as passed by the Senate, would become law without much real difficulty although slow in being done.

WCTU Prexy Claims U.S. 'Going Dry'

DENVER — (AP)—The President of the national Women's Christian Temperance union says the United States is rapidly "going dry" and of its own wish. Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, head of the WCTU which is in convention here, said that one-fourth of the country, by area, containing one-fifth of the population, is now dry or bans hard liquor by local option. She also reported to the convention that: 1. Petitions containing more than twice the number of signatures necessary have been filed for a vote on state prohibition in Arkansas. 2. Oregon will vote on outlawing nationally-promoted liquor advertising within its borders. 3. Arizona will ballot on the right to hold local-option elections as to sale of hard liquor.
