Boxcar Shortage To Become Worse, Spokesman Claims

MEDFORD — (AP) — The boxcar shortage will get worse before it gets better, a lumber industry spokesman said here Friday night, but he held hope for an eventual solution.

George Flanagan, manager of the Elk Lumber company and member of the west coast car shortage committee, told some 70 lumbermen that the shortage is the "worst ever" in this region.

Pointing out that the local summer shortage is chronic, Flanagan said that this year's nationwide scarcity is focussing attention on the situation and may bring eventual aid to this region.

Bills introduced by Rep. Ellsworth (R-Ore) were reviewed by Flanagan.

These include proposals to investigate the ICC, appropriate $250,000 to buy boxcars for the emergency, use of ship from the mothball fleet to move lumber east, and use of cars carrying Korean war supplies to the west coast to move lumber east, instead of returning empty.

The car shortage committee, Flanagan hinted, plans some action, but he refused to elaborate.

Other lumbermen proposed that pressure be brought to bear on the Southern Pacific to provide more cars and to permit use of facilities of other carriers such as the Great Northern and Union Pacific.

Flanagan said southwest Oregon was not getting even a fair share of the few cars available.

Local producers are paying $6-$12 a thousand feet for trucking lumber to seaports and Los Angeles markets.

Charles Ogle, Salem, representing the Associated Forest Industries of Oregon, attacked the proposed state natural resources committee as a "little CIO."

He said the bill was full of inconsistencies and would put the administration of resources directly into politics. The measure would eliminate agencies now doing outstanding jobs, he said.

The meeting here was sponsored by the Southern Oregon Conservation and Tree Firm association.

Korea Chairman Doesn't See Stop At 38th Parallel

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA — (AP) — P. H. Shinicky, chairman of the Korean National assembly, said today he believed United Nations forces will not stop at the 38th parallel, which divides North and South Korea.

Shinicky said the U. N. forces would go to the Manchurian border to unify the country. It has been divided since the end of the war with Japan.

The gray-haired chairman said "it is only doing justice to Korea to unify the divided nation by abolishing the artificial boundary of the 38th parallel."

Shinicky said a permanent United Nations armed force would be welcome to stay along the Korean-Manchurian border. But Korea itself must be administered by its own government.

As soon as the 38th parallel is removed as a boundary, Shinicky said, 100 vacant seats in the National Assembly will be filled at a general election.

The assembly today thanked General MacArthur for the Inchon landing.

Fire Station Destroyed When Doors Won't Open

TRAPPE, Pa. — (AP) — When fire broke out in the fire house of this small south eastern Pennsylvania community yesterday, more than 20 volunteer firemen tried to open the electrically-controlled doors.

The fire fighters huffed and puffed — but they could get the overhead doors only a few feet off the floor. The flames had disabled the electric controls.

An ambulance was destroyed and a fire truck damaged before the firemen managed to bring the blaze under control.
