

Girl Communist Writes Love Poem To Machine

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An 18-year-old girl in Communist East Germany who wrote a love poem to a machine is being gently ribbed by the "Voice of America."

Ires Nebel, who lives in Saxony, won acclaim in the Communist press for the verse, which it hailed as evidence of "creative progress in the working class." The poem was thus quoted by the State department radio:

"I love you because you are beautiful,
"You shine in the sun and you are so strong,
"You give me new courage when I am disheartened;
"You, my friend, the machine," State department officials said that the voice, after quoting the verse in 25 languages, is suggesting that there may be a big future for Moscow in the field of love:

"We don't know that the Kremlin, which has invented everything, has yet devised a machine which can kiss a young girl. But perhaps in the next five-year plan — who knows?"

Negligent Taxpayers Lose Out On Refunds

SALEM — (AP) — The State Tax commission is $52,000 richer because 5,000 persons failed to leave forwarding addresses when they moved.

The commission said that these persons were entitled to refund checks for overpayment of state income taxes. The commission sent them the checks, but they were returned by the postoffice.
