Bible Academy Slates Comedy

The dramatics class of the Canyonville Bible academy will present a three-act comedy entitled "New Fires" Friday, Nov. 17, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Robert Shaffer is directing the play.

"New Fires" is a life-portrayal of the average American family. The play is well-balanced with comedy enough to please the average audience and space for serious thought. It has complication, dramatic climax, humor, pathos and good common sense. The play takes place in the old Santry homestead, located in the southern part of Missouri.

The players are Lucinda Andrews, a widow, Nancy Linn; Susanna Toler, a spinster, Elaine Winebarger; Sid Sperry, a farm hand, Glen Edgman; A n g i e Sperry, Sid's wife, Arlene Simpson; Jerry, his son, LeRoy Nikander; Stephen Santry, an author, Stanley Dodd; Billy, his son, Leigh Williams; Phyllis, his daughter, Vera Mason; Ann, author's wife, Louise Linn; Olive, author's daughter, Bonnie Guldor; Eve, his daughter-in-law, Vivian Gates; Dick, author's son, Leonard Smith; Dr. Lynn Gray, a country physician, Thad Coleman; Mary Marshall, a neighbor, Anita Hixon, and Mrs. Marshall, Mary's mother, Eleanor Benson.

The public is invited to attend. An offering will be taken.

LARCENY CHARGED

Sam Harris, 51, Roseburg, alias Doyle Perrett, was arrested Wednesday by Roseburg city police on a Washington state warrant charging him with grand larceny. Chief of Police Calvin H. Bourd reported. Harris is being held in the Douglas county jail pending extradition proceedings.

Rev. Frank Drew Back From Eugene Hospital

Rev. Frank B. Drew, who had been confined to the Sacred Heart hospital in Eugene for the past eleven weeks, with polio, is now home in Dillard with his family. He will go to Eugene at least once each week for check-up and therapy. He plans to take up his work again to a limited extent until fully recovered.

Douglas County Mills Share In Army Contracts

PORTLAND—(AP)—Army contracts for 21,500,000 board feet of fir and pine lumber were awarded Wednesday to some 50 firms. They were valued at $1,413,380.

R. G. O'Neil, chief of the lumber sections, corps of engineers here, said the awards were on the first large sealed bid transaction since World War II. There were two earlier oral auctions and two more are planned next week.

About 50,000,000 B.F. of lumber is wanted in next week's sales program for all military services. Contracts announced Wednesday were for mills scattered in four western states. The largest was to H. A. White Co., for $108,212. This firm ships from Salem, Ore.

O'Neil said other mills were in Eugene, Independence, Roseburg, Grants Pass, Yoncalla, Kings Valley and Swiss Home, Ore.; Spokane, Morton, Everett and Bucoda, Wash., and in California and Arizona.

Canyonville Correction On Councilmen Made

John Hamlin, C. E. Parker and J. W. Reed were elected to fill three-year terms on the Canyonville city council.

The News-Review erred Wednesday in its report on the Canyonville election and reported only John Hamlin had been elected. However, there were three openings on the council and thus all three candidates in the race were elected.

DECOY DEALS DEATH

SEATTLE—(AP)—The big signboard at Jim Brady's service station realistically shows a sample of outdoor living in wet weather.

To add to the realism, Brady added some decoys.

At dusk Wednesday a mallard duck sailed in, spotted what appeared to be a pond where some of his feathered friends were swimming, and tried a high-speed landing.

Brady got a duck dinner.

Monthly Report On Jobless Notes Hike At Roseburg

Unemployment increased 6,300 during October to 18,730, but still was less than half of the comparable figure of 45,900 a year ago, the State Unemployment Compensation commission announced.

Temporary shutdown of logging and lumber operations and construction jobs due mainly to the continued wet weather resulted in a rise in unemployment claims last week to 13,289, highest in more than four months. Initial claims, denoting a new period of idleness, jumped to 4,831 against a late summer dip to 782, while compensable claims rose more slowly to 7,273, only 1,828 more than the season's low last month. Waiting period claims also were higher.

The number of active job seekers as of the first of November, the commission pointed out, was lower than any month-end report since the end of the war — with the exception of September 1 and October 1, 1950. The seasonal rise during October also was lower than usual.

More Women Apply

Reports from local offices showed a significant rise in the number of women seeking work, the commission said. Many housewives and others who responded to patriotic calls during the war were re-entering the labor market, it was noted.

Most of the increase in unemployment came from timber areas in southwest Oregon and along the coast. At Roseburg the number listed as looking for jobs jumped from 190 to 515 last month, at Medford from 175 to 826, at Grants Pass from 280 to 550, at Coos Bay from 230 to 829, Toledo 125 to 270 and Lebanon from 250 to 500. In the metropolitan area the increase was barely 11 percent to 6,850, while many eastern Oregon and other areas where late harvests still are in progress the change was slight.

Revival Series Dated By Free Methodists

Rev. R. H. Post of St. Helens will be the evangelist in a two-week revival meeting at the Free Methodist church beginning Nov. 14. Services will begin each night at 7:45.

The Rev. Mr. Post has held pastorates in several Oregon cities as a member of the Oregon conference of the Free Methodist church. He also was pastor of the Free Methodist church in Denver, Colo., before coming to Oregon.

The pastor of the local church, Rev. H. L. Stegman, invites the public to attend these meetings.

Members of the air corps reserve, naval reserve, and the national guard are also invited. The meeting is restricted.

SABOTAGE SUSPECTED

PEMBROKE, Wales—(AP)—A home office fire expert searched today for signs of sabotage in a blaze which burned down an ammunition plant near the Pembroke docks.

Damage in the fire, which broke out early Wednesday, was estimated at 100,000 pounds ($280,000).

Gay Nineties Will Be Show Motif At Lookingglass

Grandmother's dresses, with the leg o' mutton sleeves and the jaunty bustle-backs, are coming out of mothballs in the Lookingglass section and are being refurbished for the Gay Nineties Review to be given by the Lookingglass PTA Nov. 17 and 18.

According to Mrs. C. H. Gateman, publicity chairman for the Lookingglass PTA, authentic pioneer furniture and costumes will be used in the production. Early day settlers will be honor guests.

Colorful happenings taken from Lookingglass history have furnished material for the skits which have been written, especially for the production. Plays have been cast and are in rehearsal.

According to the committee chairmen, the only difficulty now confronting the members of the Gay Nineties cast is getting grandmother, who grew up in the athletic, no-corset era, squeezed into grandmother's wasp-waisted gowns. They hope to have the problem solved by curtain time.

Elementary Principals Hold Initial Meeting

The recently organized Douglas County Elementary Principals' association met Saturday, Nov. 4, at the Hotel Rose dining room for the first of a series of monthly luncheon sessions. Discussion of the meeting centered around problems confronting elementary administrators in the county. Several committees were organized to make a further study of specific problems.

Stansbury was appointed by the council to take the position after Williams was recalled.

Bids Asked For Library Lighting Fixtures

The City of Roseburg is calling for bids to furnish and install lighting fixtures in the Roseburg public library, M. W. Slinkard, city manager, said today.

Bids on the work will be accepted up to December 4, Slinkard said. The city council reserves the right to accept or reject any bid presented.

The job specifies the contractor must install and furnish nine electrical fixtures—Module units No. F-96 T-12, WWX lamp. Slinkard said in bidding for the lighting of the library, bidders shall quote prices only on the fixtures listed in the specifications; there shall be no alternates.

A copy of the complete specifications for the lighting job may be obtained from the city manager's office.

Judgments Issued In Circuit Court

Barcus Sales and Service has been awarded a judgment in circuit court for $3,051.32 from Claude and Ethel Kellum. The amount allegedly remains to be paid on a promissory note.

Gerald and Golda Cowley were awarded $105 from John A. Harris, also allegedly due on a promissory note.

The cases of Carl Grove vs. Roseburg Lumber Co., and Perce Auto Freight Lines, Inc. vs. Mark Clem Hucks were both dismissed with prejudice by the court.
