

Tito Appreciates Western Aid, But Loyal To Marxism

LONDON — (AP)—Marshal Tito says Yugoslavia is grateful for help received from western nations but has no intention of being wooed away from communism.

Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency, said Tito set forth this view in an address to an organization of disabled war veterans in Belgrade.

Both the United States and Britain recently have made large loans to tide Yugoslavia over a threatened winter famine, following a severe drought. Tito, who is in Russia's doghouse because of his refusal to toe the line laid down by the Kremlin, told the ex-service men:

"We remain loyal to our principles. We have not given any concessions and not deviated in any way from the line of Marxism by requesting assistance from those whom we believe would give it to us."

The western allies are doing all they can to help Yugoslavia as part of the cold war against Soviet aggression. Said Tito:

"I think it unnecessary to dwell upon why they wish to help us. Anybody can see why. We exist and constitute a strong factor of peace. We must be reckoned as a country which is struggling for peace and which is known throughout the world as a most bitter opponent of aggression."

He said the western countries, in their trade relations with Yugoslavia, "look upon us as an equal partner."

"The capitalist system in those countries," Tito added, "does not bother us in economic relations. And I must say that we often get better conditions from those countries for the purchase of various items than we did from Eastern lands."

Tito said his government has "taken all necessary measures" to meet the food problem caused by a widespread drought this summer.

Supplies sent to Yugoslavia by the western nations, he said, "will be distributed with the utmost care and economy and special precautions will be taken that none of it is squandered."
