MODEST MAIDENS

How can you tell if it's comfortable or not without throwing your legs over the sides?

First Escaped U.S. Prisoner Tells Of Harrowing Event

ON THE NORTHEAST FRONT IN KOREA—(AP)—The first U.S. prisoner has escaped from northeast Korea's elusive Communist guerrilla bandits after somehow living through American artillery and strafing attacks.

Guided back to the Puerto Rican regimental combat team's lines by friendly Koreans, Cpl. Wallace L. Taylor, 414 S.E. 10th Ave., Gainesville, Fla., told of his adventure today.

He was on a machinegun outpost with the 56th field artillery battalion near Yonglong, in Northeast Korea, Nov. 7.

"In the hazy moonlight," the negro corporal related, "I could see groups of men coming toward me. The first bunch came within 20 yards carrying burp (rapid fire) guns and Russian-type machineguns.

"I tried to fire the machinegun. It wouldn't work. They were only 15 paces away. I threw a hand grenade. They screamed and scattered."

Taylor called for help over the field phone. An officer and three men crawled forward and joined him. Then a Communist illumination grenade spotlighted the position. Enemy mortar shells blasted it.

Taylor said he crawled out in front of the machinegun with his carbine to fire at the enemy. Unknown to him, an order to withdraw was issued.

"At daybreak," he said, "I found myself alone in front of the machinegun position. Korean guerrillas were all around. Four came toward me. I killed one with my last bullet. The other three ran."

Taylor said he tried to run for the American lines, but guerrillas surrounded him. One who spoke English came up crying "I kill you" and tied his hands behind his back.

Taylor said a North Korean non-commissioned officer, however, ordered him untied and made him pick up a wounded guerrilla. He estimated he had carried "the Korean 1,000 yards when U. S. artillery opened up."

"Shells were falling all around," the corporal said. "What saved me was I fell to the ground and the Korean was on top of me. Four Koreans beside us were killed by the first shell."

Taylor could see the Koreans running toward a mountain. With them were three other captured Americans all carrying wounded Koreans.

Then U.S. warplanes came roaring over, firing rockets and machineguns.

Taylor said his wounded Korean directed him to a house, where a woman cooked them some rice and roots.

The wounded Korean apparently helped the corporal to escape. At least he talked to the woman, who went away and returned with an old man.

Taylor said the old man asked "You U.N.?" when Taylor nodded, the old man motioned him to follow. The old man led him over the mountains.

He said that once they met two North Korean soldiers out the old man talked to them and the Reds let the American and his guide pass. Then a tiny artillery spotter

Bad Ice Cream Causes Epidemic; Makers Penalized

PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA—(AP)—Two men were sentenced to prison for making bad ice cream and causing a paratyphoid epidemic that affected 1,800 people.

Prague newspapers reported that a district court in Stara Boleslav, eight miles northeast of Prague, found they had put unboiled Juck eggs into ice cream eaten at a children's day celebration there June 4. Health authorities said the eggs contained paratyphoid microbes.

Rudolf Sila, foreman in the confectionery department of the middle Bohemian Consumers' Goods cooperative, was sentenced to four years in prison and fined 50,000 crowns ($1,000).

Otakar Petura, workman in the department, was sentenced to five months imprisonment.

Federal Reserve Board Asks Curbs on Lending

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Federal Reserve board has appealed to the nation's banks to put check-rein on their lending. Aggregate bank loans have increased at a rate of about $1,000,000,000 a month since the start of the Korean war.

Board chairman Thomas B. McCabe said that banks can make big contribution to the fight against inflation by holding down borrowing and by limiting loan extension.

AUTOMATIC PROFITS

Growing labor shortages are upping the need and demand for Automatic Merchandisers. Economic Advisor of N.S.R.B. says of the Vending Machine Industry: "Highest possible rating for fast growth with sales now A BILLION DOLLARS YEARLY and should double that in the next few years."

With as little as $1000 to $3000 you can establish yourself here and now and enjoy a rapid growth, but don't be fooled by silly claims or "get-rich-quick" schemes. It is true that capital returns are higher than conventional retail business BUT ONLY with tested, guaranteed equipment vending a recognized quality item in great demand and LIVELY locations. All this is assured thru connection with a reputable and highly cooperative manufacturer. If you have some cash and want a safe, solid set-up with good income starting immediately, write giving phone.
