Drop Atom Bomb On Russia, Urge Of Sen. Morse

WASHINGTON — The fate of the world for war or peace will be determined "in a relatively few days," Sen. Wayne Morse (R-Ore) said Sunday.

If it turns out there is no hope of negotiating peace with Russia, there, this country will have no choice but to drop the atomic bomb on Russia, Morse said on a broad-casting company's television program, "meet the press."

"He said he believed this country should 'make clear to China that we consider her only a satellite of Russia' and if Russia will not take part in real peace talks, the U. S. should 'declare Russia an aggressor.'"

"In a very real sense we are already at war with Russia," Morse said.

He added that he hoped there still was a chance for negotiating a peaceful settlement, and that if it were an "honorable" settlement he'd be for it.

Morse said he did not think the scheduled conference between Britain's Prime Minister Clement Attlee and President Truman would alone bring about a decision, but added:

"I hope it will bring about some changed attitudes within the United Nations."

"I would have my government make it very clear to the United Nations that we want a decision . . . within the next few days."

"We can't stand by and let thousands of American soldiers be killed — really with Russian bullets," Morse said. This country's first step should be to "make a friendly suggestion to the Russian delegates, both in the security council and in the general assembly, to sit down and frankly discuss the world situation."

He said he suspected that the Russian delegation would not do so, and it would then be time for the United States to declare Russia an aggressor.

He said he thought the President should "take to the radio" and "give the people the real facts about Russian strength."

He declared that in his work on the senate armed services committee, there were a good many things we were told to keep top secret which he believed should be disclosed to the people.

But only the President, he said, could make the decision to tell these facts to the people.

He said the U. S. should find out what terms the Chinese Communists would agree to get out of Korea, and that he did not believe there had been a real discussion of such terms in the United Nations.

Lignite is much better, geologically speaking, than lower grades of coal.
