LOUISE HAYES and SALLY KRUSE

Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Berg Entertain at Open-House

One of the largest parties of the year was enjoyed Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Berg held open-house at their beautiful home in Laurelwood. Three-hundred friends called during the evening hours and were received by Mr. and Mrs. Berg and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sears (Annabelle Berg). The Sears and their baby son, Richard, were here from Medford for the weekend.

Inside and out, the Berg home is elaborately and beautifully decorated for the holiday season. Blue and green Christmas candles light the floor-length windows, while strings of lights outline the entire home. Santa Claus, his sleigh and reindeer are on the roof and an angel decorates the fireplace. Christmas carols are played throughout the evening hours every night during the holidays and the lights are turned on for the enjoyment of everyone passing by.

The inside of the home is equally as beautifully decorated as the exterior. A huge silver wreath and rose-colored Christmas ornaments hang on the front door. A silvered Christmas tree with green and blue lights has been arranged at the north end of the long living room. White chrysanthemums deck the mantle, while the dining room is all in silver, white and rose. A plastic lily of the valley lamp, circled with rose-colored grape ornaments decorates the buffet.

The attractive rumpus room proved a delightful gathering place for friends calling during the evening hours. The serving table was covered with a white cloth and centered with huge tangerine-colored candles tied with a large chartreuse-colored bow. Silver trays were used for serving the refreshments.

Dozens and dozens of people out driving nightly wend their way through Laurelwood to stop before the Berg home, where the holiday decorations prove so fascinating that they return again and again to enjoy the beautiful Christmas setting.
