

Truman Bids For Congress O.K. On Foreign Policy With Soft Pedal On His Fair Deal

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman is soft-pedaling his "fair deal" program for 1951.

He needs all the support he can get in Congress on his foreign program, since Congress already is split wide open on that.

Besides, a large part of Congress' energy this year is going to be needed for international dealings and defense.

In his state of the union message to Congress Monday Mr. Truman seemed very careful not to anger anyone very much about his domestic program.

The whole tone of what he said on domestic affairs was far less aggressive than his state of the union speech in other years.

His "Trumanite" Democrats in Congress are outnumbered by the Republicans and Southern Democrats, any time they team up.

The Republicans are his biggest hurdle on foreign affairs. He'll need to woo the southerners; or at least not push them away from him.

He infuriated them in other years.

Price Cuts Made In "Good Faith" Legal, Decision

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Supreme Court ruled Monday that price cuts made in "good faith" to meet competition are legal under the anti-trust laws.

The tribunal split 5 to 3 in holding specifically that Standard Oil company of Indiana may sell gasoline to four Detroit jobbers at a price below that charged retail service station operators there so long as the good faith requirement is met.

Justice Burton wrote the court's majority opinion for himself and Justices Frankfurter, Douglas, Jackson and Clark. Justice Reed wrote a dissent in which Chief Justice Vinson and Justice Black joined. Justice Minton took no part.

The ruling was on an appeal by Standard from a Federal Trade Commission order requiring the company to stop selling to the jobbers at one and one-half cents a gallon less than it sold to retail service stations in Detroit.

Justice Burton noted that the FTC had not made any findings as to Standard's good faith in cutting prices. The commission said it did not do so because it felt that even if the reductions were made in good faith they were still in violation of the Robinson-Patman act.

Vets Reminded Of Deadline For GI Bill Benefits

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Veterans desiring to utilize their GI educational benefits are being reminded by Oregon State college officials that in accordance with provisions of the GI Bill of Rights they must be enrolled in college for the spring term of semester, or a summer session starting before July 25, 1951, or forfeit their rights under the program.

This applies to both those who have not yet taken advantage of the GI educational benefits and those who have interrupted their training. Summer vacations, however, are not considered as an interruption of training.

According to word received by OSC from Washington, a veteran who is in college at the time he is called up for service as a member of the reserves, or otherwise is called into military service, is not considered as having lost his rights to further GI benefits, provided he returns to training within a reasonable time after release from the armed services.

A person not in college at the time he is called does, under present regulations, forfeit his World War II educational benefits, however.

National educational authorities have suggested that veterans expecting to be called into military service as reservists, or desiring to volunteer should not withdraw from college between terms unless actually reporting for duty in that period. They point out that veterans should keep a clear record of having been enrolled in education or training at the time they were called for service.

The American Council on Education, in a recent review of induction, deferment and postponements of induction, said "students will better equip themselves to serve the national interest by remaining in college to complete this academic year." The council said that hearings on new legislation will not begin until mid-January and that the new legislation will not be passed until well after the beginning of the second semester. The present law makes postponement of induction mandatory for college student until completion of the semester or quarter in which they receive their call for induction.

Court Continues Injunction Issued In Union Dispute

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—A temporary injunction restraining both unions in a jurisdictional dispute which has interfered with shipping at seven Oregon ports has been continued by federal district Judge Michael J. Roche, "until I dispose of this case."

Judge Roche issued the restraining order against the Independent International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union and the AFL Sailors' union of the Pacific last Friday.

The unions have been battling for the right to handle lumber on ships carrying so-called "unpacked lumber" from southern Oregon ports.

Norman Leonard, ILWU counsel, protested Judge Roche's saying, it was illegal to continue a temporary restraining order for more than five days.

Last Friday's temporary injunction was asked by Gerald A. Brown, regional director for the National Labor Relations board. Brown told Judge Roche that a "freeze" had been imposed on the Oregon ports because of the dispute.

William Shakespeare was born in April, 1564.
