Roseburg's Civil Defense Heads To Meet Tuesday

Col. M. Crawford has called a meeting of his newly selected civil defense deputy directors for the city of Roseburg. They will meet in the city council chambers Tuesday at 7:45 p.m.

The Roseburg civil defense organization consists of Mayor Albert G. Flegel, under whom Col. Crawford serves as director, and J. F. Dillard as assistant director. There are 12 deputy directors, announced as follows: Administrator, Vern Hasbrook; fire service, Fire Chief William E. Mills; law enforcement, Police Chief Calvin Baird; health, J. W. Dent; welfare, William T. Evans; plans and operations, Col. Bob Dicey; personnel, George T. Foster; information and education, Leroy Inman, and transportation, Clyde E. Knight.

All of the deputies will be required to take the oath to defend the United States and to declare that they have never been affiliated with any subversive organization.

Several other persons who are expected to play an important part in the city's civil defense setup are expected to be present. Frank Hammerschmith will serve as liaison officer between the civil defense and the Red Cross.

City Manager M. W. Slankard has prepared for Col. Crawford a huge map of the city, on which has been drawn grids making it possible to pinpoint every area.

Setting forth the basic policies of the organization, Col. Crawford said that civil defense is a task that must be shared by the federal, state and local governments and individual citizens. The basic tenets of civil defense are self help and mutual aid.

The civil defense program will make maximum use of existing facilities and services within the city limits. Timely and authoritative information will be disseminated to insure public morale and maintain public interest and participation in civil defense measures. Organized groups, as well as individuals, will be prepared to assist each other. Local resources should be exhausted before calling upon the county or state for assistance. The local civil defense plan should be completed and ready for operation on or before April 1, 1951.

Application Filed For Water Rights Along Cow Creek

Mrs. Frankie Schroder and Mrs. Ila Quirk of Azalea, have filed an application in the office of State Engineer Charles E. Stricklin for the approval of changes in points of diversion and place of use of water from Cow creek. Certificates of water right issued to William Schroder and F. A. Tripp confirm a right for the use of the 0.1 cubic foot per second of water of Cow creek with a date of priority of April 2, 1923, for the irrigation of four acres in the NE 1/4 SW 1/4 and three acres in the NW 1/4 and SW 1/4, section 5, township 32 S., R. 4 W., W.M. The seven acres are irrigated through the Tapp and Schroder flume.

Mrs. Frankie Schroder, owner of the three acres, and Mrs. Quirk owner of the four acres, propose to irrigate the land by means of a pumping plant and changing the points of diversion.

William Schroder was also issued a certificate of water rights for irrigation of four acres in the SW 1/4 NW 1/4, section 5, T. 32 S., R. 4 W., W.M., with a date of priority April 27, 1932. The four acres are irrigated through the John Irrigation ditch.

Mrs. Frankie Schroder, owner of the latter property, proposes to transfer the water rights without loss of priority to four acres in the NW 1/4 SW 1/4, the point of diversion to be the same point as for the three acres described above.

A hearing has been set for April 5 at 10 a.m. in the county courthouse at Roseburg, if objections are filed within 10 days prior to the date set for the hearing. If there are no objections the hearing will not be held.

Donald C. Riddle Makes Drill Team

TREASURE ISLAND, Calif. — Donald C. Riddle, Riddle Ore., currently attending the U.S. Navy Electronics school has been selected as a member of the famed school's drill team. The unit has performed at various community celebrations throughout California and Nevada last year.

A total of 46 first prize trophies have been awarded the Treasure Island group in parade competition. All members of the team spend approximately two hours daily in rehearsal on their own time. There are no officers connected with the activity.

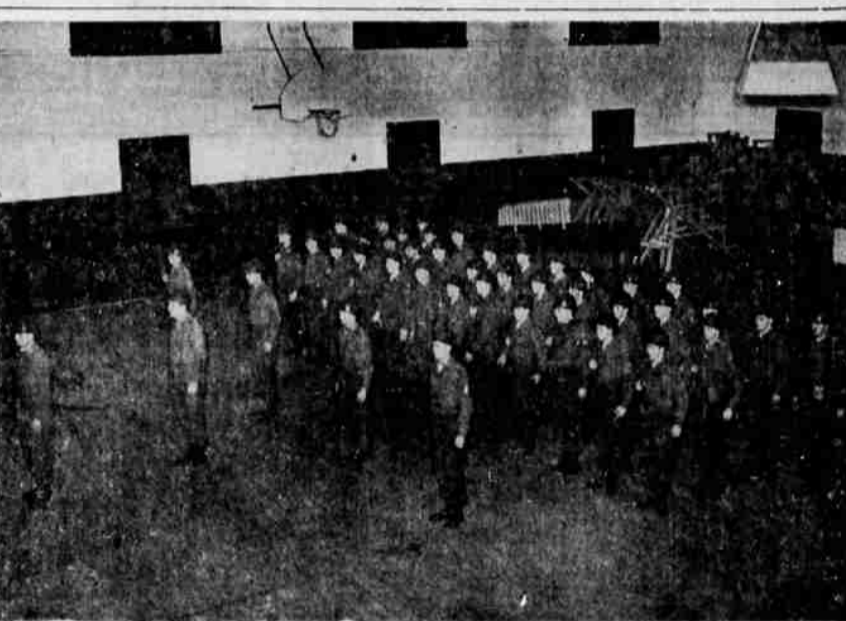

Although technically the team is not officially allowed to compete with civilian drill groups, Riddle's outfit outclassed the Half Moon Bay (Calif.) Spanish Dons, national champion drill team. This contest was held at Concord, Calif. last fall.

In review before Gen. Omar Bradley and Gen. Albert Wedemeyer, the latter remarked that the sailors had one of the most outstanding military drill teams he had seen in 30 years of service. They are recognized as the champion military drill team of California.

Preliminary arrangements are now underway for scheduled appearances throughout the state this year at various community celebrations. There are 30 men attached to the unit representing nearly as many states. The Electronic 36-week course both in theory and practical operation. Upon release men are attached to the fleet.

The Alaska Highway, originally the Aican Highway stretches 1,523 miles from Dawson Creek, B. C., to Fairbanks, Alaska.

Women's Club Plants Flowers At Hospital

The face of the Douglas Community hospital received a much needed re-vamping Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 7. This was brought about by the efforts of the Roseburg Women's club working on the Douglas Community project which began last June.

At that time the Roseburg Women's club held a rose show, which not only was a huge success as an exhibit but also a financial boon. The proceeds were used in planting the shrubs and plants in the flower boxes about the face of the hospital.

The committee responsible for the planting of these shrubs consisted of Mrs. J. M. Boyle, Mrs. K. Ford and Mrs. G. V. Wimberly.

The plants were purchased from Moyers nursery, Martin's nursery and Lehne's nursery. The Douglas Community hospital staff expressed its gratitude for the time, work and money donated to this project.

Architects' Meet Slated At U of O

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene — The Northwest Regional conference sponsored by the American Institute of Architects which will take place here Feb. 16 will find in attendance such prominent personalities in the field as Ralph Walker of New York City, president of the institute and Dr. Edwin Burdell, director of Cooper Union in New York City and chairman of the AIA's commission for the survey of education and registration.

Purpose of the meeting is a survey to determine what education is necessary for the practice of architecture. Ten such conferences are being staged throughout the country. Dean Sidney W. Little of the university's school of architecture and allied arts and a member of the survey commission, will be host for the conference.

Three questions will be put before the conference delegates. They are: (1) what kind of a society is foreseen in the future — will the trend toward collectivism in England, Western Europe, and Asia extend to the western hemisphere? (2) how will the social organization of the United States of the future affect physical forms of buildings and the growth of cities, towns, and rural areas? and (3) what should be the basis of preparation for men and women for professional leadership in such a society, with special reference to the place of architecture in it?

In addition to Walker, AIA officers at the conference will include Walter Taylor, Washington, D. C. AIA secretary; Glenn Stanton, Portland, first vice-president, and Waldo Christensen, Seattle and H. Abbott Lawrence, Portland, AIA corporate members.
