Only One Allen Quad Survives After 8 Days

BOSTON — (AP) — Only one of the Allen quadruplets—born prematurely eight days ago — is still alive today.

Little Kathleen died Friday. Her sister, Karen Elizabeth, died last Sunday and her brother, Timothy, early Tuesday.

Robert Allen Jr., largest of the quads at a little over three pounds, was reported "doing well" at Children's Medical Center.

The quads were born to the wife of Robert Allen, 41, a Boston patrolman. They were six weeks premature.

FFA WEEK DESIGNATED

SALEM — (AP) — Oregon has 3,300 active members of the Future Farmers of America, Governor Douglas McKay said in designating next week as Oregon Future Farmer week. All of them are studying vocational agriculture in public schools.

The annual FFA state convention will be held March 20-22 in Corvallis.

Governor's Promise Reopens Struck Schools

MINNEAPOLIS — (AP) — Minneapolis' 94 public schools, closed since Jan. 23 by a strike, were reopened Wednesday and some 63,000 pupils were resumed their studies.

Classes were scheduled Tuesday. Instead, picketing union teachers marched about the schools in support of their demand for a pay raise higher than the $100 annual increase offered by the school board.

Luther W. Youngdahl, who governed the instructors for the day, intervened with Minnesota legislators in an effort to gain more financial support for the city's schools.

In offering the $100 annual increase, school board members said that was as high as the city could go at the present time without resorting to deficit financing.

Reorganization Plan For School Districts Fought

SALEM — (AP) — The Dr. T. C. Holy bill to reorganize school districts has run into a storm of protests from rural people, who said it would destroy the little red schoolhouse and make the school children go long distances to larger schools.

On the other hand, the bill drew strong support from the Oregon Education Association, Oregon League of Women Voters, State Federation of Labor, and the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The main objection voiced by rural school board members was that districts could be consolidated by a majority of all the voters. The bill would eliminate the present provision under which individual districts can vote to stay out, regardless of whether a majority of all the voters in the proposed consolidated district vote.

Harold Cooper, Newberg, said "We don't want to give up our democratic way of life. Children in rural schools learn more by individual guidance than by mass education in cities."

The testimony, given before the Senate education committee, also included a statement by George Denn, Benton county rural school board member, that it isn't fair to force rural school districts to consolidate as long as they have standard schools.

"I'd rather be under three or four democracy boards than under a dictator board," Denn said. "My taxes are plenty high, but they could still go higher if they let us keep our present, inefficient democracy boards."

Present System Rapped

Dr. Holy, the Ohio State university education expert who proposed the bills to overhaul the state's school system, said Oregon has the "most complicated school district organization in the nation, with nine or 10 different kinds of school districts. The system is inefficient, wasteful and educationally damaging."

Mrs. Sarah Knox, Portland, of the League of Women Voters, said the small districts aren't able to give adequate courses in such subjects as mathematics, science, art and music.

"The people won't stand for this rank waste of the educational dollar," she said.

Mrs. Edith Green, representative, said the bill would "get the most economy and efficiency out of the tax dollar."

officer Dr. Adelard Groulx says that 92 persons have died in Montreal since the turn of the year "of causes which have been attributed to influenza."

He called the prevalence of flu in Montreal at present "an epidemic."
