

Current Steelhead Migration Tops All Except Parent Year

The current winter steelhead migration in the Umpqua river, since counting started in 1946, already exceeds, as of Feb. 15, all except the parent year, reports Wm. Pitney, game department biologist.

The total 1947 migration, 11,220 fish through the Winchester counting station, was the largest since the Umpqua river study was started in 1946. The run now in progress is the progeny from the 1947 fish. Careful studies are being made to determine the rate of return.

Findings, however, must await final totals, because of influence of climatic and water conditions on fish movement.

In 1947, for instance, almost half the run had come through the counting station by Feb. 15. In other years the proportion of total run counted by mid-February was only 20 percent or less.

To date almost 2,000 fish have been tallied at Winchester. Should the 20 percent average hold true this year, the offspring migration will compare favorably with the parent run. If, on the other hand, half the migration already is represented in fish counted to date, the run will be far below the 1947 tally.

Usually, Pitney reports, the peak of the run reaches Winchester dam some time between the middle of February and the middle of April, which also is the period of greatest spawning activity throughout the watershed.

Because of the March and April spawning season, the Umpqua river is closed to all angling from March 1 to April 28, except that salmon may be taken after April 15. This closure protects spawned-out steelheads returning to the ocean, as steelhead, unlike salmon, do not die after spawning but return to saltwater.

Comparative figures on winter steelhead migration are shown below, the first column giving the year of migration, the second column the tally through Feb. 15 of each year, the third column the final total for each year, and the fourth column the percentage of migration as of Feb. 15 compared to the season total:

1946	1316	6563	20.1
1947	5142	11220	45.8
1948	1620	9700	16.7
1949	1294	9225	14.0
1950	1415	7008	20.2

Gustafson Signs With Salem High

PRINEVILLE — (AP) — Lee Gustafson, whose high school football teams here lost only two of 19 games in two years, will become head football coach at Salem high school Sept. 1.

His announcement yesterday was later confirmed by the Salem school board.

Gustafson, whose team reached the quarterfinals of the state high school football tournament last year, will succeed Loren Mort, who resigned at the close of last season.

Gustafson coached at Corvallis high school and was backfield coach at Oregon State under Lon Stiner before coming here.

A three-year letterman at Oregon State, he played in the 1942 Rose bowl game in which OSC defeated Duke 20-16. Gustafson, who was graduated in 1947, will assist in spring sports and teach physical education courses at Salem.

Medical Arts Bowlers Pace Women's League

There was little change in the Women's bowling league last night as Medical Arts Lab continued to set the pace with a two-out-of-three game win over Roy O. Young.

Frances Bistak of Myrtle Creek Building supply scored a high 209 game and Vi Bouceck of the Shalimar Room had the high series with a 503.

Riddle To Host B Loop Playoffs

Riddle will open its gates to eight county "B" league teams Monday, Feb. 26 for the opener of the county championship playoffs.

Participating teams are: Elkton, Glendale, Canyonville, Yoncalla, Drain, Days Creek, Oakland and Riddle. These comprise the four top teams in each of the northern and southern halves.

Playoffs will continue Wednesday and Friday in both championship and consolation brackets.

The only county teams not present will be the Glide and Camas Valley squads. They will attend the Ashland Invitational tourney.

The top two teams in this rugged playoff schedule will be eligible for playoff berths in the district tournament to be held at Yoncalla, March 9 and 10. Competing with these two are the winners of the Coos and Curry county leagues.

The Coos team will be either Coos River or Powers and the Curry representative is Gold Beach.

Prices announced for the county playoffs are 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children on Monday and Wednesday. The championship duets for Friday's games go for one dollar for adults and 75 cents for children.

Stage Set For Crucial Tilt Between Ducks, Huskies

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene — Upwards of 16,000 basketball fans will jam McArthur Court this weekend for the crucial Northern division series which sends Oregon's Ducks against the powerful Washington Huskies.

Ticket Manager Darrell Robinson said early this week that all reserved seats for both games were sold out and about 2,000 general admission tickets for both games would go on sale at 5:30 p.m. both Friday and Saturday evenings.

The games match the current Northern division leaders in a series which could easily mean the 1951 title for the team that could win both games. A split would postpone the final decision until a week later when Oregon trades home games with Oregon State and Washington plays host to Washington State.

Washington already holds two decisions over Oregon this year. The Huskies won easily in the conference opener, 73 to 49, but were hard-pressed to withstand a late Webfoot rally the second night and eke out a 61-60 victory.

Five of the top seven scorers in the league will be in the starting lineups of the two teams. Oregon's Bob Peterson tops the league with 141 points, followed by Washington's Bob Houbregts with 139 and Frank Guisness with 137. In fourth place is Jim Loscutoff of the Ducks and Curt Barclay is seventh with 108.

The Ducks, who have won 16 and lost 11 this year, can't match Washington's overall record of 17 and 4. The Ducks, however, have yet to lose a conference game at home and have hopes of maintaining that record. Washington, too, has a perfect record at home, which means that the Ducks can't count on the Huskies losing either of the two games in the final week to take up any margin the Huskies might pick up by winning here.

Argentina Sets Olympic Stage

BUENOS AIRES — (AP) — Argentina has set a dazzling stage for the first Pan American Olympic games starting Sunday.

North Americans would have a difficult time believing stadiums could be so vast and food so lavish as available here.

Some 2,000 athletes from the western hemisphere are expected to compete in the warm, midsummer weather. The customary last-minute Olympic frenzy and frazzled nerves has engulfed this city.

For example, Uruguay won't compete for complex political reasons and yachting has been dropped because only Argentina and Chile had ships ready.

However, 17 other sports are assured, and when the big United States team arrives in two planes Friday night, the heat of enthusiasm is expected to match the temperature.

The Pan American games are patterned after the world Olympics, even to an Olympic village, which is called "Villa Pan Americana."

The Argentine West Point, which is known as Colegio Militar De La Nacion, will house male competitors.

Volleyball Slated

All men in the Roseburg area are invited to participate in the YMCA volleyball program every Tuesday and Thursday starting at 5 p.m. in the armory.

Participants are asked to bring their own towel and gym shoes.

Girls Stage Basketball Tourney; Riddle Wins

Over 75 girls proved that basketball tournaments aren't limited to the masculine sex Thursday afternoon.

Representing the five "B" schools of the south half, the girl hoopers held a playoff tournament at Camas Valley. In the regulation 10-minute games, Riddle walked off with the honors, winning four games without a loss.

Canyonville was next with a two and two split in four games. Camas Valley and Days Creek followed with one win, two losses and a tie. Glendale managed only one victory against three defeats. A potluck lunch was served at noon, followed by skits presented by each school. The judges picked Riddle as the outstanding skit.

The next southern half play-day, featuring softball, will be held at Days Creek in May.

Why FERGUSON PLOWS

give you quicker, easier penetration

When you use a Ferguson Plow, you don't depend on massive built-in weight for penetration—the 3-point attachment to the tractor actually pulls the plow into the ground. This natural penetrating action is aided by still another Ferguson feature, the automatic flexible rolling landside that needs no adjustments to assure uniform furrow walls.

Each of these plows is a unit with the tractor so you need no heavy frames, no wheels, no levers, no separate lifting devices. You lift, lower and adjust depth by Finger Tip Control. There is a wide choice of genuine field-proved Ferguson Plow Bases to fit your soil conditions. Ask us to show you these bases and to explain their advantages.
