Parks Dept. Appeals For Public Support

After the board has taken appropriate action on the site recommendation, he said, it can acquire the site through purchase, donation or trade. Once land is deeded to the county, it can be sold only after a vote by the people, Collins stated.

Plans are then drawn up by the park superintendent for the development of the park. Collins said the department has little funds available for maintenance work and it is usually necessary for civic groups to aid in the care and development of parks. He used Drain's new county park, located near the Living War memorial, as an example of how a community can cooperate.

Collins said there are now 10 parks in the county, the most important being the one at Winchester Bay. He said some of the sites have not been developed as useful recreation areas but will be as funds are obtained for improvements.

In his concluding remarks, Collins said the county is concentrating its efforts at present on obtaining sites rather than improvements of existing parks. He said real estate values in the county have increased to a point which makes the purchase of adequate sites very competitive. He said the county is the market for some good park sites in southern Douglas county, an area which has no county parks.

behind Fullerton school. The Fullerton Dads club is planning to build an athletic field on the property. If the specifications and estimate are accepted, the school board and city will divide the cost with the school board. The school board has agreed to pay half the cost as long as that half does not exceed $1,500.

Approved by the council was a proposal to repair the curb on Harvard avenue in front of the Community hospital. City Manager M. W. Slankard estimated the cost at $350.

Traffic Problem Faced

The mayor appointed the street committee to take under advisement the traffic problem presented by school buses going to the high school on Madrone avenue past Mercy hospital. The plan would allow pay for a limited vacation and sickness absence during the year.

Since no bids have been forthcoming for sale of the Boucock house on the airport tract, the council voted to advertise again for proposals.

Use of the lot on Jackson and Mosher streets for parking purposes was granted Edward G. Kohlhaugen for parking purposes. The lot is located directly behind the Kohlhaugen apartments.

The council tabled a request by the Douglas County Housing authority to have a housing project included in the West Roseburg sewer network.

The city will also advertise for bids for liability and fleet policy insurance to cover the municipal vehicles.

GREYHOUND

"I'd Like to Know..."

You may have heard that a lawsuit has recently been filed by the Antitrust Division in Washington, D. C. to break up Standard of California as well as six other West Coast oil companies. Many people have written us protesting this action, and have asked pertinent questions. We feel they should be answered for everyone. And we take this way of doing so. If you have a question we urge you to write:

"I'D LIKE TO KNOW"
225 Bush St., San Francisco 20

"Why should you be in all parts of the oil business?"

Mrs. Henry Lincoln, housewife in Boise, Idaho, asks: "Do you have to be in all parts of the oil business? Why don't you just produce or refine, and give other companies a chance to do the transporting, selling, etc.?" Mrs. Henry Lincoln

Why all parts? Take the example of how Standard serves Idaho and eastern Oregon. Time was when severe winter weather often delayed deliveries. Costs seemed high. Here was a need, a demand.

And to move the crude, Standard laid a pipeline to Salt Lake. This called for an especially big investment because the 182 mile long line is the world's highest; crosses the Uinta Mts. at 9360 feet.

Next—a new Standard refinery at Salt Lake. It cost over $15 million. But to keep costs down, it must operate continuously—have constant supply of crude, constant movement of product.

Another long pipeline was then built on up to the Northwest. Gasoline and fuel oil made from Rangely crude now go where they're needed—lower in cost, plentiful no matter how tough the winter.

That called for a complete, integrated operation—getting the crude out of the ground, refining it, delivering it to users—all carefully planned ahead. So new wells were drilled at Rangely.

A certain minority in the U. S. seems to believe big companies should be broken up—even though big companies have led the way in helping provide an unmatched standard of living and helped keep the nation strong. The U. S. was very thankful for its big companies during the last two world wars... and is again, in today's critical times. This is a big country with big problems, and it needs both big and small companies to meet them. We will do everything we can to continue doing a good job for you and the nation... a good big job.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA
plans ahead to serve you better
