Womanpower Draft Regarded As Probability

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

A draft of woman power may be the next big step in our fast-changing world.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna M. Rosenberg says she has no plans at present for a draft of women, but the possibility looms large in the minds of the public in the event of all-out mobilization, and opinion is violently divided.

Mrs. Millicent Carey McIntosh, dean of Barnard college, New York, has gone on record as favoring a voluntary registration of women.

A recent statement signed by the presidents of 26 women's colleges recognized "the significant part which women should play at the present time in our country's history" and asserted approval of a conference to study the question of voluntary registration of women.

On the other hand, Dr. Harold Taylor, president of Sarah Lawrence college, Bronxville, N. Y., says:

"I am against any draft of women... to take girls between the ages of 18 and 26 and put them in uniform would threaten our whole social structure."

Increased Corn, Wheat Plantings, Farmers' Plans

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Agriculture department reports that farmers are planning to plant 85,694,000 acres to corn this year. This would be an increase of 1.6 percent over last year's plantings of 84,370,000 acres.

The department had urged a corn acreage of at least 90,000,000 acres to meet increasing feed needs of cattlemen, hog producers, dairymen and poultrymen. Government defense spending has greatly boosted consumer demand for livestock products.

Such an acreage would produce a corn crop of about 3,050,000,000 bushels should acre yields turn about average. Last year's corn crop was 3,131,009,000 bushels, the 1938-48 ten-year average was 2,900,932,000 and the record was 3,681,793,000 in 1948.

The spring wheat acreage forecast at 21,850,000 acres, an increase of 18.1 percent over the 1950 plantings of 18,509,000 acres. The department had recommended 21,400,000 acres to help meet defense program needs.

Other Crops Estimated

The prospective plantings of potatoes — long a troublesome surplus crop — were forecast at 1,590,000 acres compared with 1,866,000 last year and the department's goal of 1,560,000 acres.

The indicated average would produce a crop of about 333,327,000 bushels at average yields compared with 439,500,000 last year, 403,284,000 for the ten-year average and the government's goal of 335,000,000 bushels.

The prospective plantings of other spring crops and the percentage changes from last year, respectively, included:

Oats 44,191,000 acres, a decrease of 5.3 percent from last year's 46,642,000 acres. The department has suggested 43,500,000 acres.
