Large bouquets of spring flowers decorated the room. Swedish meal balls and baked salmon formed the main dishes with various salads, cheeses, relishes and Swedish breads on the menu. Five maids dressed in Swedish costumes served, while Scandinavian music entertained the guests. Following the dinner, pinocle and canasta were in play. Old-Fashioned Grandparents Wanted In American Museum

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Before the species dies out altogether, someone ought to go out and trap a real old-fashioned grandma.

And they ought to trap a real old-fashioned grandpa, too, and put them on exhibition in the American museum of natural history — somewhere between the dinosaur and the brontosaurus.

But I suppose it is too late. Are there any real old-fashioned grandmothers left? If there are I don't see them anymore. No place, that is, except in the magazine ads.

You know the type of grandma I mean. She's the dear old white-haired soul with the kindly look, sitting in a quaint rocking chair and putting the finishing touches on a quilt. And remember the old-fashioned grandpa? He's the gentle character with the time-frayed moustache. He is seated by the fireplace. His cane is by his side, and a golden-haired tot is sleeping on his lap as the fine old fellow gazes with misty eyes into the dying fire.

Well, that's the kind of grandma and grandpa I was raised to believe in. But today they're about as legendary as Santa Claus. I have met a lot of grandparents recently, but none of them were sewing quilts or sitting by the fireside.

They have become streamlined — just like trains, airplanes and motor cars. The jet-age grandma doesn't want to look like Whistler's mother. Her model is Marlene Dietrich, who is a grandma, too, but gets a little tired of having that fact mentioned so much. Yep, grandma has done gone in for glamor and sex appeal. The only needle she knows is the one she gives grandpa for stopping off at a bar on his way home. She no longer has silver threads among the gold. She's a platinum blonde. And by golly, and by peroxide, she's going to stay a blonde!

Lions Further Cancer Fund Campaign Plans

Plans for sponsoring the Cancer Society fund campaign in Roseburg, as a memorial to Dr. L. M. Leibrach, are being furthered by the Lions club. Dr. Leibrach was a prominent Roseburg physician and member of the Lions.

The club is sponsoring the appearance here May 11 of the University of Oregon's traveling show, "The Milky Way." Admission will be by complimentary tickets given to contributors to the cancer fund. The Lions will sponsor a solicitation campaign, starting next week.

The Lions at their meeting Thursday night discussed the campaign, which is headed by Allen Clute. The club's program for the evening consisted of the showing of two motion pictures on our national forests by Ray Hampton, director of forest protection of the Umpqua National forest staff in Roseburg. The pictures were "Every Man's Empire," a pictorial of forest areas, and "Smoke Jumpers," which portrayed the adventurous and exciting work of forest fire fighters parachuting from airplanes into the forest area to put out spot fires before they have a chance to spread. The picture showed the training required and protective means to insure the safety of the jumpers, landing in the tall timber of Oregon.

Past President Dr. James E. Campbell has been appointed chairman of the club's nominating committee, which will consist of past presidents.

Graduate School Pooling Approved By Oregon House

SALEM — (AP) — A western states compact to pool facilities for specialized graduate school education was assured after the Oregon House voted to ratify it.

Oregon is the fifth state to approve the compact, and it takes five states to start the agreement working. However, it still must be approved by Congress.

Under this agreement, graduate schools in the 11 western states, Hawaii and Alaska would be opened up, at resident tuition rates, to students of the other states. Each state would help pay for the support of the schools of the other states.

This would make it unnecessary for the states to establish new graduate schools, and would make it possible to build up the existing schools.

Colorado, Montana, New Mexico and Utah are the other states that already have ratified the compact.

The compact was proposed by the conference of western governors.

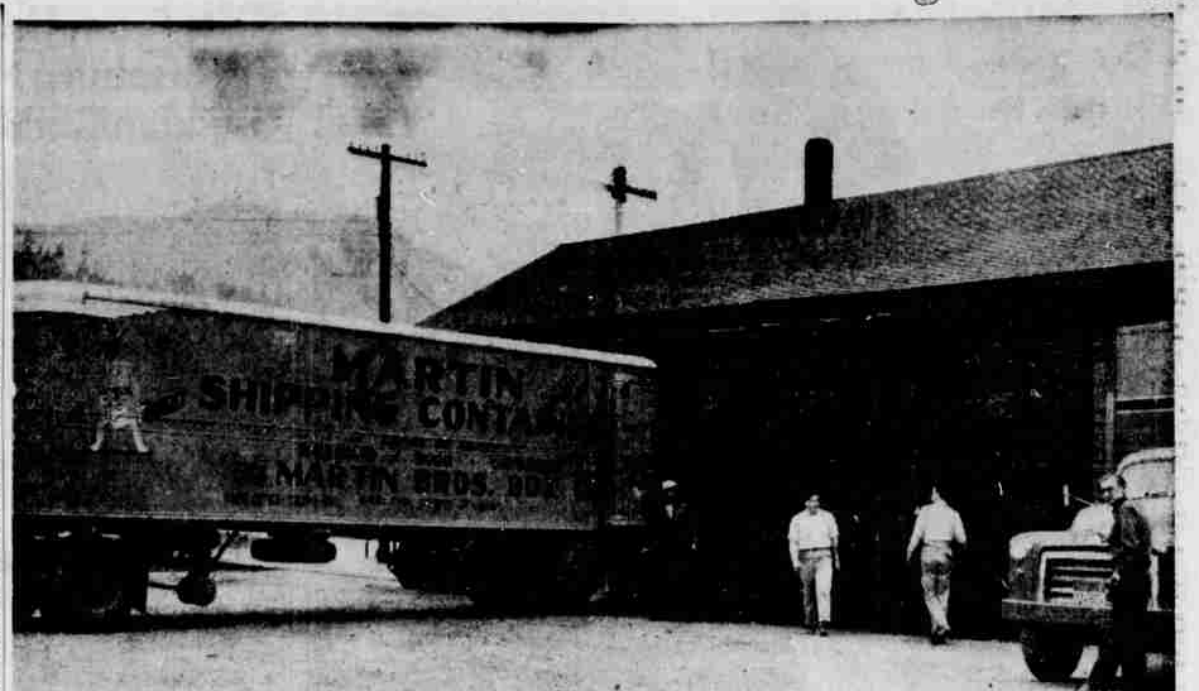

In a resolution sent to the Senate, the House called for an inter-committee to study labor-management, unemployment compensation, industrial accident and other labor laws.

Emergency Fund Action

Measures were sent to the governor to let Governor McKay spend state emergency funds for the next two years. This money probably will total around $1,500,000. It usually is spent by the state emergency board, a legislative committee that has power to make emergency appropriation between sessions.

LOAD EQUIPMENT—Officials and key men of the Martin Bros. Box company at Oakland assist in shipping mill equipment from their strikebound mill there to another and distant plant owned by the company. The heavy machinery was trucked from the nearby mill to the depot for loading on box cars. The shipment represents one-third of the equipment necessary for the manufacture of wirebound boxes, the Oakland plant's specialty. Company officials state that one half of the remaining machinery soon will be transferred from the Oakland operation. —(Paul Jenkins)

SHARK REPELLENT HELPS

SAN PEDRO, Calif. — (AP) — A chemical shark repellent developed to save fliers downed at sea is proving a boon to fishermen here. The repellent, which comes in small cakes, has proven effective in chasing the killer fish which destroy thousands of dollars worth of fishing nets by pursuing smaller fish into them.

One skipper of a tuna trawler reports that he lowered a net equipped with the repellent in waters infested with sharks. He said he caught 100 tons of fish without being bothered by a single shark. The repellent affects the shark's taste organs and robs the fish of the desire to bite.
