Fullerton Dads Will Sponsor Annual Picnic
The second annual Fullerton school picnic, sponsored by the Fullerton Dads' club, has been scheduled for Friday at 6 p. m. at the Veterans hospital picnic grounds.

"All they can eat" will be the motto again this year as the dads begin preparations for the event. Ice cream, hot dogs and soda pop will be dispensed to the throng and organized games will help work up appetites.

A safety patrol of dads is an added feature this year. The safety patrol will keep the picnickers in bounds, watch for any play hazards and keep track of the children till they are delivered home.

All Fullerton school fathers are urged to attend whether or not they are club members. Dads are urged to bring as many Fullerton pupils as possible.

Arrangements have been made for school bus transportation for those who need it. Bus routes and schedules will be announced later in the week. Children who go by bus should be instructed to return home the same way.

Orlin Kent is general chairman for the picnic. Dick Crenshaw will be in charge of refreshments, Earl Sergeant will supervise sports and Charles Collins is head of the safety patrol.

Attempted 'Deal' Seen As Adonis Faces Trial

ior court Judge J. Wallace Layden who is to hear the case.

Indicted along with Adonis and Moretti, 46-year-old Demarest, N. J., gambler who also received prominent mention in the senate crime report, where James Lynch, 46, of Palisades Park, N. J., Arthur Longano, 46, of Englewood, N. J., and Anthony Guarini, 38, of Hasbrouck Heights, N. J.

All were charged in a blanket conspiracy of running high stake dice games in Fort Lee, Adonis' hometown, and Lodi in 1949 and 1950. Guarini, now serving time on a gambling conviction, will be brought here to face trial.

Luxuries For Suckers
In addition, they were named in three other indictments charging them with maintaining disorderly houses for gambling. On each of these counts they could be sentenced to five years and fined $5,000.

The state has elected to try Adonis & Company on the blanket conspiracy counts rather than on the other charges.

In pressing charges, deputy Attorney General Nelson F. Stamler and New York District Attorney Frank S. Hogan painted lurid pictures of luxurious gambling centers in Bergen county.

Bettors were chauffeured from central locations in New York, a few minutes away, in flashy cadillacs.

Players received the best of food and drink "on the house," authorities said, and even had free barber service at their disposal.

PTA To Host Mothers Of Pre-School Pupils
A tea and program has been arranged for mothers of pre-school children Tuesday at one p. m. at Fullerton school.

John Lucas, director of special education in the school system; Dr. E. J. Waincott from the county health office, and a county health nurse will give talks. There will be a movie and refreshments will be served. All pre-school mothers of the Fullerton district are invited by the PTA members to attend the program, meet the teachers and visit the classrooms. Arrangements have been made to entertain the pre-school children during the program.

Cattle Receipts Drop As Price Tops Begin
squeeze on wholesale and retail beef ceilings now in effect.

But critics of the program—in Congress and in the meat industry—challenged the merit of the new order.

Spokesmen for cattle raisers contend the ceiling merely shifts the squeeze from the packers to the cattle feeders. They predicted it would end up in a big drop in beef production.

"Confiscation," Senator Cries
Senator Butler (R-Neb) said in a radio debate Sunday that D'Salle "boats" that the order will save consumers $700,000,000.

"Cattle feeders will lose that same $700,000,000," said Butler, who is a cattle feeder on his farm in Nebraska. "That's not saving, that's confiscation."

Meat industry men appeared before the house agriculture committee in Washington and argued that the order will sour black market operations and drive cattle-men out of business.

D'Salle today upheld the move to trim back meat prices, and told reporters:

"This rollback is a necessary step toward bringing down the retail price of beef. If we could not take this necessary step when livestock is selling at 152 percent of parity, I feel that the whole stabilization program would be wrecked."

"We feel this is a fair program. Any program so far reaching is bound to take a while for the public to understand and is bound to cause some vexations and temporary inconveniences, but we ask everyone to take a fair-minded approach to it."

"After all, the little things we must do here at home don't seem like much when you compare them with the sacrifices being made by the soldiers in Korea."

In Chicago—the nation's major livestock center—it means that packers will be permitted to pay the following maximum average prices for account periods between May 20-July 29:

Prime grade yielding 62 percent meat, $37 a hundred pounds; choice yielding 59 percent, $34.20; good yielding 56 percent, $31.50; commercial yielding 53 percent, $27.30; utility yielding 47 percent, $21.80; and cutter and canner yielding 43 percent, $19.50.

and the other spun down in a "whirl of fire."

Speaking of Chinese human sea tactics, General Almond said: "The Chinese rely on quantity, not quality. They put overwhelming numbers in the field on the theory that some will get through."

Of enemy infiltration during the first days of the offensive, Almond said: "Some Chinese did break through and that some Allied command posts were overrun and officers and men of command posts were killed or wounded."

Red commanders "place no value on human life," Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said on his fourth trip to the front since becoming supreme commander. He estimated that four or five Reds would be killed to every U. N. Soldier loss.

Lt. Gen. Almond had a close call himself on a visit to the front. He sought protection behind a lead tank when a Red machine gun opened up on the position he was visiting.

Gayle Hash Wins Oregon Class A Marble Title
A Roseburg boy was named Oregon class A marble champion at Jantzen Beach park, Portland, Saturday, May 19. He is Gayle Hash, 519 E. First Ave., a student at Benson school.

The 11-year-old shooter outclassed all competitors in his division but was defeated in the final playoff by Merle Davis, class B champ. In the deciding contests, he lost 3 to 5 and 13 to 6.

Gayle was the class A runner-up in a marble contest held at Rose school pavilion May 12 and was entitled to participate in the state shoot with Larry Exceen.

The state champ received a bicycle, a new set of clothes and will participate in the national marble contest to be held in Albuquerque, N. M., June 21 through 23.

There were 187 contestants in the tournament sponsored by the Young Oregonians. Alice Meyer, 13, Corvallis, was the only girl entry and she was awarded a special prize.

Bob Kessel, Florence, placed fifth in class B competition.

G.O.P. Congressmen Demand Acheson's Ouster
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Forty-three Republican house members, all serving their first term, have called for replacement of Secretary of State Acheson by a man "in whom the people can have confidence."

They made public a resolution calling for Acheson's removal "in order to promote national unity and to establish a foreign policy based on realism which will promote a just and lasting peace."

Acheson has said he intends to stay as long as President Truman wants him; the President has said he is well satisfied with the secretary.

WILBUR SHAW THINKS SO MUCH OF THIS NEW CHRYSLER, HE HAS SELECTED IT AS PACE CAR FOR THE 1951 INDIANAPOLIS 500-MILE RACE.

"I've just driven the most powerful car* in the U.S."

WILBUR SHAW, AMERICA'S MOST FAMOUS DRIVER, DRIVES NEW 1951 CHRYSLER—REPORTS TO YOU ON REVOLUTIONARY FIREPOWER ENGINE AND HYDRAGUIDE POWER STEERING

Here are Wilbur Shaw's reactions—in his own words—as taken down by a recording machine in the car:

"The '51 Chrysler has it! With this new engine and power steering, the first on any U.S. car, it's a whole of an automobile.

"I'm completely bowled over by the ease of steering!

"This steering combined with the automatic transmission . . . is the nearest thing to an automatic pilot for a car I can possibly imagine.

"This engine . . . I can't get over the amount of power and snap in this engine . . . it's incredible!

"I drove 111 miles with the feeling I had expended no more effort than in driving around the block.

"When Mrs. Shaw drove, her comments just about squared with mine. Here's what she thinks of the 1951 Chrysler . . ."

Mrs. Shaw: "At first I could hardly believe the ease with which I could turn the wheel. That's important . . . especially in the summertime.

"Often after I have parked a car in the average parking space, I feel I should taxi home, shower and get dressed again. But with Hydraguide Power Steering I parked it with one hand. It practically drives itself."

Wilbur Shaw: "It's hard to describe this new Chrysler without going off the deep end . . . it has it in every department.

"In fact, I think so much of this car, I've selected it as Pace Car of the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race!" (Mr. Shaw's comments are reprinted through the courtesy of Popular Science Magazine.)

*Mr. Shaw refers of course to standard passenger cars—not racing cars or special models.
