REPORTERS ROUNDUP: Guest on the popular 8:30 p.m. show will be Lieutenant (JG) William H. Evans Jr. He's the navy officer discharged from the service last week for writing "contemptuous" letters against the administration. Everett Hollis will again moderate the question-answer program. The original guest schedule, Millard Caldwell, has been postponed until the following week.

MERT'S RECORD ADVENTURES: Back on the air for the summer is Mert Copeland—the youngsters' disc jockey—heard each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5:00. He'll spin records for the young and add interesting stories to them. The program originates from New York.

QUEEN FOR A DAY: Harry Mynett official escort for the "Queen For A Day" program, has suited more than 1600 ladies from 48 states and 19 foreign lands. One of his recent experiences more or less takes the cake for unusual anecdotes. As one of his duties, Harry must anticipate the "queens" every need. One such "queen" who had hitch-hiked to the broadcast dressed in sweater, slacks and tennis shoes, needed an ensemble for her whirl around the town's nite spots. Harry went to work and rounded up a complete outfit for her to wear. The "queen" was wide-eyed with excitement when she saw her wardrobe, but after she had checked everything she turned to Harry and said, "How about some garters?" Harry, who incidentally is a married man, stammered, "I thought those things had gone out of style. How was I to know?"

TOMORROW: At 10:45 a.m. Bob McCarl interviews hospital patients at the "Douglas Community hospital," on Hypo Hillites.

At 6:30 p.m. Lyle Fenner opens the "Brighter Side" and pianist Bob Weber composes a couple of scintillating keyboard compositions while the tunnies are being read off.

TONIGHT: Bob Grant on Music You Want at 10:15 plays the "Wagner" album from Golden Age at the Metropolitan series by RCA. Elizabeth reitberg, Friedrich Schorr, Schumann-Heink and Gadski will be heard.

Mexican Labor Ouster Sought By Farm Union

EL CENTRO, Calif., (AP) —The AFL National Farm Labor union will ask Mexico to remove its nationals from the Imperial valley farm strike area.

Ernesto Galarrza, vice president of the union, left for Mexico City to present this demand to the government there.

Mexicans are imported to help during harvesting and planting in the Imperial valley, just north of the border. The United States and Mexico have an agreement that these contract workers will not be paid less than the going wage and must be removed in case of a labor dispute.

Hank Hasiwar, western director of the union, claims the Mexican contract laborers and many "wetbacks," those Mexicans who cross the border illegally, are strike breakers and are keeping wages down. He said they work for as little as $3 a week plus meals.

Keith Metz, president of the Imperial Valley Farmers association, says withdrawal of the Mexicans would hinder the multi-million dollar harvest of early vegetable crops.

The union is seeking a wage boost from 60 cents an hour to $1 and a five-cent per cent increase over the present 20-cent rate.

Sixteen pickets have been arrested, most of them on charges of blocking traffic.

Various Uses Of Fund For Scouting Explained

To emphasize the need of $73,000 in the Oregon Trail council of the Boy Scouts organization, a campaign report shows that only about 30 percent of the boys in this area enjoy the benefits of scouting.

The report states that every cent of the money received in the Scouting debut in the independent fundraising effort this year will go for operation and development of the Scouting program in this area.

A majority of the money received in the one-day drive June 12 will go for organization of units as well as the operation and expansion of the present roster of units, the report continues. Scout leaders have
