

Wild Tug Unhurt From Solo Binge

VANCOUVER, B. C. — (CP) — Little Toot started a near-panic near the entrance of Vancouver harbor after leaving her crew high and dry on a log boom.

Skipper Ken Hughes and Seaman Tommy Jacques left the tug Comalong's engine running when they hopped onto the boom for a brief chat with the crew of another vessel.

Comalong seized the chance and whipped off by herself.

She charged among fishing boats, scaring them half to death, but kept well out of the way of the big freighters moving in and out of the harbor.

The tug Amaral and the Vancouver police patrol launch gave chase but couldn't catch the Comalong.

Three tortuous miles later, the runaway tug smashed into the R. C. A. F. jetty at Jericho beach, bounced off and ran up onto the shore, exhausted.

The Amaral went back to the log boom, picked up the stranded crew and then yanked the Comalong off the beach.

The Comalong wasn't seriously hurt.
