Stolen Portland Auto Found Bullet-Riddled

MORAGA, Calif. — (AP) — A stolen Oregon auto found bullet riddled and abandoned in a canyon near here has set authorities off on a search for a Pacific coast wise ring of auto thieves.

The car, a red 1948 Plymouth coupe reported stolen from Mrs. Lena L. Anthony, of Portland, several weeks ago, was found Sunday night.

Inside the car was a briefcase belonging to N. J. Koury, of Alameda, Calif., and beside the car was a California license plate to Koury's car, reported stolen Saturday night.

Sheriff's Inspector Norman Wilson of Contra Costa county speculated the abandoned car's Oregon plates had been switched to Koury's stolen vehicle.

OREGON HISTORICAL CARAVAN—With exhibits depicting early history and progress of Oregon, the two-bus Oregon Historical caravan will be at Hansen's used car lot for four days starting Saturday at 10 a.m. No admission will be charged. The displays are sponsored by the U.S. National bank.

Atomic "Secrets" Swap Reported Argentine Plan

BUENOS AIRES — (AP) — Argentina might be willing to swap some of her new atom secrets, if she could get the right raw materials in return, says the nation's top atom scientist, Ronald Richter.

"If she can make a good deal," Richter told newsmen, Argentina might sell her nuclear secrets outright, or trade them for machinery and raw materials she needs for atomic industrial development.

The Austrian-born Richter, showed newsmen through the Humul atomic plant 850 miles south of Buenos Aires. He said his new experiment which will be ready in six or eight months, "will amaze the world" and might pave the way for use of atomic energy in iron smelters and electric power plants.

Richter was hailed by President Juan D. Peron three months ago as the discoverer of a cheap new process for releasing atomic energy. (Announcement of the discovery was received with some skepticism in the United States.)

Last month the government announced it had set up a national plant and laboratory at Huemul island to follow up discoveries attributed to Richter, who, it was claimed, hit upon a way of producing atomic energy much in the way the sun produces heat.
