

Portland Boy Steals Model Plane Show; Roseburg Youth Also Places

Ten-year-old David Spooner of Portland stole the show at the control line events of the Oregon Plymouth model plane meet held Sunday at Jantzen Beach park in Portland. Dave, youngest contestant in the meet and small for his age, gave the other competitors a lesson in smooth flying and consistent performance, as he walked off with a first in class B speed, second in class A speed and stunt, and a third in class CD speed, junior division, to win one of the coveted all-expense trips to Detroit, offered as top prizes in the meet.

Other trips to Detroit for competition in the fifth international model plane contest in August, went to Gau Robbitt, 15, Portland, only girl contestant, high in the junior division; Eugene Bartel, 20, Dallas, high-point senior contestant, and Fred Fisher, 16, McMinnville, high point free flight.

Another top award went to David Feus, 14, Portland, who won a $300 college scholarship offered by sponsoring Plymouth dealers. He represented the state last year in the international. High speed registered during the day's event was turned in by Martin Arrigetti, 15, Portland, who flew his class CD speed plane 120 MPH in the junior division.

Gene Foley, 18, Roseburg, placed first in the senior class stunt event and fifth in class B senior free flight.

Foley also placed fifth in class B senior free flight during the competition.

Weak Controls Statute Leaves U.S. Exposed To Disastrous Inflation

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

For the next month the United States will be operating under the same economic controls law it has had for most of the Korean war period. With the one exception that henceforth price rollbacks will be barred. The one-month's extension was stop-gap legislation to carry the country over until Congress could complete action on longer-range measures. Consequently the temporary retention of most features of the original law is not significant.

The rollback ban is a better cue to the current mood of Congress. The Senate has passed a long-range bill which contains a price rollback prohibition though it allows certain exceptions. Its bill also would prevent the price administrator from using slaughtering quotas to control livestock prices. If, as expected, the final proposal closely resembles the Senate's version then Congress will have placed definite curbs on the President's powers to affect favorably the cost of living.

In the minds of some lawmakers the present extension of the old law may be linked with efforts to arrange a truce in the Korean fighting. They perhaps feel that if the war is concluded the "heat" will be off and they can vote for a much feebler control bill than otherwise. Since there is no known intention to slow down the nation's snowballing defense program, tying inflationary controls to the ebb and flow of activity in Korea hardly would seem sensible. Rearmament will go on. Its impact upon the economy will grow. Greater and greater inflation already has cost the American people billions of dollars in the hard stuff of the war. A continuing upward spiral could only steal more from the taxpayers' pockets. These are the inescapable facts of America's economic life in 1951. The new price rollback ban coupled with impending longer-range proposals in the same vein indicates that Congress right now does not choose to be impressed by these facts. The lawmakers are impressed rather by the unpopularity of economic controls among what-

Polish-Born Family Gets Big Reception in N.Y.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Volodymyr Holubiw stepped off a boat from Europe Wednesday into a bewildering full-dress reception, cheers, speeches and a band.

Polish born Holubiw was the 250,000th displaced person to arrive here, and was somewhat startled to run smack into the American custom of celebrating big round numbers.

His three girls, aged seven, five and three, took the cheering crowd in stride and in appreciation sang "Row, Row, Row Your Boat" in English—with gestures.

Holubiw, his wife and children are bound for Woodruff, Wis., where he will work on the farm of Frank Grahl.

Presented with a bronze medal of the Statue of Liberty, Holubiw said: "Thank you, America, this is the greatest day of our lives."

"I am sorry that my English is not good enough to say what is in our hearts, but all of us, 250,000 DP's know we have been given the greatest gift of our lives—the chance to become citizens of America."

Senators Wary Of Red Scheme In Korean Parley

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Wary lawmakers caution that new Communist aggression may be lurking behind seeming Red willingness to negotiate a cease-fire in Korea.

Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) told a reporter he fears the current maneuvering by the Reds at Kaesong might be only an effort to throw United Nations forces off guard for an attack on Europe in August.

"We must watch this thing carefully," Lodge said. "If they were planning an attack in Europe or to move Chinese Communist troops against Indochina, the cease-fire move would be just the sort of thing they would attempt."

Lodge said he doesn't believe the U. N. should settle for a cease-fire at the 38th parallel, as the Reds have proposed. He joined Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) in proposing that the narrow neck of the Korean peninsula, about 100 miles north of the 38th, be made the dividing line. The 38th was the old border between North and South Korea.

Douglas said in a letter to Secretary of Defense Marshall that the Communists would advertise any settlement at the 38th as a "crushing victory" over the U. N. forces.

The Illinois senator, like Lodge a veteran of World War II, contended it would be "fantasy" to believe the Communists would agree to inspection behind their lines to make certain there was no Red buildup for a new attack.

Douglas said a settlement at the 38th parallel would leave a "festering sore" of communism threatening South Korea with attack again at any time.
