RELIVING—Mrs. Helen Keith, 37, starts to prepare breakfast in her San Francisco home, able to do minor household chores after surviving an operation in which her heart stopped beating for 12 minutes. The operation was performed at the Peter Ben Brigham Hospital in Boston May 11. The case made medical history because Mrs. Keith survived—not only after the heart stopped for eight minutes, but after it had then undergone four minutes of "ventricular fibrillation" a quivering normally associated with death.

State Pensions To Aged Opposed By Californian

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — (AP) — Pensions to oldsters have developed into "a Frankenstein that should be covered by social security," says state social welfare Director Charles I. Schottland.

He called, in an interview, for "a dignified insurance system which is not based on destitution" to provide aid to the always increasing number of the aged.

Pension payments could be discontinued, says Schottland, if Congress would expand the social security system.

The aged would then be drawing entirely from an insurance fund into which they had paid during their working years, notes Schottland, instead of pensions dependent upon "the whims of the political situation."

It seems unfortunate, says Schottland, that the fate of pensioners is left "to the generosity of counties, states and sessions of Congress."

Schottland concedes much depends on politics. But he says it is possible that federal social security will be broadened enough to do away with pensions by the various states within 15 to 20 years.

Some 250,000 Californians are drawing social security money—and 60,000 of them are also getting state old age pensions.

California is paying out $18,000,000 a month in old age pensions—and $6,000,000 is coming into the state monthly in social security payments.

Mrs. Margaret Kristy, the girl's mother, told police her husband was "insanely jealous" of his stepdaughter.

YOU'RE SAFER—
ADEQUATE
WIRING

When your doorbell rings at night you don't have to shiver and quiver and wonder what's outside. With Adequate Wiring, you'll have a permanent light at each entrance and, at the flick of a switch, can see instantly who's there.

Your home will be provided with switches at the top and bottom of each stairway. There'll be no more groping for lights . . . no more worrying for fear you'll go downstairs head first in the dark some night. No longer will you knock your shins against even familiar objects, or stumble over toys Junior's left on the floor. And when you bring the boss home of an evening you won't have to hunt for the light-pull before you can show him he's welcome. Adequate Wiring will provide a path of light to precede you wherever you go in your home and will make your life safer in every way.

Lights and switches are only a part of every Adequate Wiring installation. Other important features include enough and large-enough wires to insure that you will have — now and in the future — as much electricity as your home may need at any time; enough circuits so that all your lights and electrical equipment can always work at full speed and efficiency; enough outlets to provide comfortable, convenient and efficient use, always, of all your lights and electrical equipment.

ADEQUATE WIRING COSTS SO LITTLE — MEANS SO MUCH
