30-Hour Week
Least Vet Must Train In Trades

Thousands of Northwest veterans in trade and industrial schools are now required to go to class at least 30 hours a week in order to be considered full-time students under the G. I. Bill, the Veterans administration said. The new regulation went into effect July 1.

Only full-time students are entitled to full rates of subsistence pay, which range from $75 to $120 a month, the VA explained.

The new weekly minimum, which added five hours to the previous rate of 25 hours a week, is a requirement of Public Law 610, enacted by Congress nearly a year ago. That requirement, however, didn't become effective for most schools until July 1.

Veterans affected by the law's new attendance requirements are only those in below-college-level trade and technical courses where shop practice forms an integral part of their daily activities. Examples would be courses in automobile repair, machine shop operations and the like.

In case veterans continue to attend such courses for 25 hours a week, the VA said, they now will be considered to be in school three-quarters of the time rather than full-time, and they will receive no more than three-quarters of the G. I. subsistence rates.

The new 30-hour week need not consist of straight training, for the law makes allowances for a 30-minute rest period each day.

The boost in the number of hours of attendance applies only to courses where shop practice is necessary, the VA emphasized. Under the law, below-college-level courses in which theoretical or classroom instruction predominates will continue to be considered full-time when a minimum of 25 hours a week of instruction is required.

AUTO OWNERS...

PROTECT
TO DRIVE!

The State grants you the right to drive on the streets and highways . . .

. . . BUT you can lose that right (your driver's license and motor vehicle registrations) under Oregon's new Financial Responsibility Law for failure to deposit security as proof of financial responsibility to satisfy judgments that may result from an accident causing damage to property, or injuries, or death to any person.

The State will accept a FARMERS $5,000, $10,000 Bodily Injury and $5,000 Property Damage Liability Policy as security and proof of Financial Responsibility. At current rates it costs only —

Bodily Injury Liability Rates Are Increased

NEW YORK — (AP) — The national bureau of casualty underwriters has raised bodily injury liability rates in owners, landlords and tenants classifications in 14 states and the territory of Alaska. The average percentage increase included 103 in Washington, 21.8 in Oregon and 31 in Alaska. The bureau said classifications affected are those rated on an area and frontage basis, including stores, hotels, churches, hospitals, clubs, restaurants, apartments and tenements, boarding or rooming house and mercantile and office buildings.

"Coach, your kind of driving calls for the Supreme 8!"

"You're a short-hop motorist just like most drivers. You put most of the miles on your car right around town . . . with only occasional long trips. To cover the bases on performance, Coach, you need a gasoline with all-around quality, not just one or two star features!"

"That's where Chevron Supreme scores! You know gasolines can be made to play up one quality at the sacrifice of others. But not Chevron Supreme Gasoline! It gives you the correct balance of all eight high-performance qualities for your kind of driving!"
