

Furrier Says Rug About Worthless

DENVER — (AP) — That leopard skin rug sent home from Korea by a GI and which the Korean ambassador thinks may be worth $100,000 may not have much monetary value after all.

A Denver furrier who appraised it said Friday it is "practically worthless" except for whatever sentimental value it may have to Koreans.

The furrier, who declined use of his name, said the rug is full of moth holes, the leather is rotting and if cleaned the rug probably would disintegrate.

Sgt. Elvern H. Giltner sent the rug to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh V. Giltner at Pueblo. He said he paid $61 for it. A U. S. customs agent took charge of it Thursday, bringing it to Denver.

HOUSING PROJECT PROGRESSES—The former Brown estate property west of the new Fullerton school is a busy place these days, as work progresses on the Housing Authority of Douglas county's 30-duplex project. Malarkay and Moore of Portland have the contract for the work, which includes construction of the homes and administration building, laying out of the streets sewer and drainage installations and landscaping. All the houses will have concrete floors, and bases of these are now being prepared. It will take about a year to complete all the units and other work connected with the project. The development is to be known as Rosewood Homes. (Picture by Paul Jenkins)

Labor Board Drops Action Against Zellerbach Corp.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Crown Zellerbach Corporation was guilty of an unfair labor practice but the National Labor Relations board said it was dismissing an action against it in Oregon because all of the contract remedies hadn't been first exhausted.

The case was brought against Crown Zellerbach's Siltcoos division in logging operations near Gardiner, Ore., by the CIO International Woodworkers.

The issue was the piece rate to be paid for use of a power saw in bucking felled timber.

The union said the company in 1949 cut the contract rate from 79 cents a thousand to 70 cents without conferring with the union. The company said the rate was approved by the only power saw bucker, Jalmar Stonelake, who was a member of the union's plant committee.

The NLRB agreed with its trial examiner that the company had cut the rate by unilateral action but it said the company and the union had a background of "peaceful and . . . salutary employer-employee relationship (and) we are reluctant to issue a remedial collective bargaining order." It said in effect that the two should get together and talk things over.

If the board were to issue an order directing the company to bargain, it would be "in the position of policing collective bargaining agreements, a role we are unwilling to assume," the board said.

It pointed out that in the past there had been isolated disputes which had been settled amicably and since the company's record was one of willingness to bargain, the established contract grievance and arbitration machinery should be sufficient.

And so, the board said, "We shall dismiss the complaint without determining whether the respondent's (company's) conduct would, under other circumstances, warrant the issuance of a remedial order."

Cortisone Supply Being Increased For Public Sale

NEW YORK — (AP) — New relief for the shortage of cortisone, the wonder hormone, was announced by the Schering corporation, one of the large drug manufacturers.

Beginning now it is putting cortisone on the market, under the trade name of cortegen. It is the same cortisone as made by Merck and company, the pioneers of this hormone, and it is made by a similar process from ox bile.

This puts three large drug manufacturers in the cortisone business. Recently Syntex Inc., of Mexico

City, announced a new method of making the hormone from a Mexican yam and said that within a year they would be able to double the current world production.

The Schering corporation did not announce how much cortisone it is now manufacturing, but said it is starting with special compounds for other uses than rheumatoid arthritis.

The first of these is for eye trouble. Cortisone, modified by other drugs, has proven highly efficient in a number of eye diseases. Cortegen, the announcement said, is put up in an aetel solution for eye use.

The announcement said the eye remedy was chosen first because the eye troubles are severe and respond better to cortisone than to other medicines.

The announcement said the American supply of ox bile is short and that Schering has developed new sources for getting the bile from South America, Europe and countries bordering the Pacific.

It has been estimated that if the rest of the coal produced in the United States comes from the Appalachian bituminous coal region,

Prison Terms Handed Bogus Money Passers

TACOMA — (AP) — Marion J. Williams, 51, was sentenced to 15 years in federal prison here on charges of printing and passing counterfeit money.

Joel L. Parsons, 49, was given a five-year sentence on four counts of receiving and passing bogus bills.

The pair were arrested in a cabin near Eatonville July 7 with more than 1,000 counterfeit $10 and $20 bills in their possession.

Similar charges against Parsons' bride of two months previously were dropped. She was arrested with the pair.

Ku Klux Klan Crosses Again Burn In 4 States

ATLANTA — (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan is active again in the south. And a spokesman for the Klan says the renewed activity is meant to embarrass un-American groups.

Crosses have flared this week in Georgia, Florida, Alabama, and Tennessee. The Klan, says T. H. Klein, executive secretary of the Association of Georgia Klans, is "trying to get a return to Americanism and trying to defeat communism." He said permits for the burnings had been granted by the association to units in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Ohio, New York, Colorado, Illinois, Florida, and Indiana.

A margin of error of about 10 percent must be conceded in estimates of the total world population based on those countries which conduct periodic counts.
