Recluse Sisters Found To Be Rich

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — (AP)—A police search of the apartment of two recluse sisters — one of whom was found dead and the other unconscious from malnutrition — has turned up a total of more than $60,000 in cash. Police Friday unearthed $38,000 in dusty old bills in the tidy apartment of the sisters who lived a life of seclusion for about 30 years. More than $24,000 was found Thursday. Police broke into the four-room apartment Thursday and found Clara Fafflock, 78, dead in her bed and her sister, Mary, 76, in very weak condition from lack of food. Clara had been dead four or five days. Mary was taken to a hospital where her condition continued to be "very weak." Neighbors told police the sisters were worth about a half million dollars.

Restored Sight Follows Blind Woman's Prayers

SCRANTON, Pa. — (AP)— Eleven years ago, during childbirth, 38-year-old Mrs. Mary Cerra became blind. Since then her husband, Frank, and her three children served as her eyes. But Mrs. Cerra prayed. She said she felt "deep down in my heart I would see again." Several days ago she was in the office of Dr. Alexander Munchak and — as Mrs. Cerra described it — "my vision began to return." Dr. Munchak described the case "as close to a miracle as I've ever seen."

New Timber-Buying Job 'Fascinates' Ex-U. Of O. Coach Jim Aiken But He'll Always Have Time To Talk Football

"I used to look for football players. I now look for No. 1 peeler logs." That, in a nutshell, sums up the new activities of Jim Aiken, ex-University of Oregon football coach, now a timber buyer for Umpqua Plywood corporation in Roseburg.

JIM AIKEN
Logs Now, Football Always

Aiken's new job will take him around to timber operators to make arrangements for the purchase of timber. "I'll talk either football or logs with them—it doesn't make any difference," Aiken commented. "I imagine I'll be doing quite a bit of talking about football." The former football coach moved to Roseburg several days ago and set up "bachelor" quarters at 1209 Winchester street. His family, now in Eugene, is expected to join him in about two weeks.

Aiken continues to keep a hand in football, however, as a scout for several professional teams and as a "fan." "I want to go to the football games on Saturday afternoon and sit down and enjoy them without worrying about who's going to win," he said. He'll follow the Roseburg team this fall under Coach Bill Reder. The Roseburg assistant coach, Keith Moore, played fullback on Aiken's team last fall. And, of course, he'll keep close tabs on the University of Oregon, under its new coach Leonard "Len" Casanova.

"If he gets the right kind of breaks, he'll do okay," Aiken said of Casanova. The two coaches met several years ago during a Nevada Santa Clara game. New Vocation Fascinating Aiken has been working for the Umpqua Plywood corporation since July, shortly after he re-He has been working "in and out" of Roseburg for the last two months. This time he's here to stay, Aiken said. "I think it's just as interesting as coaching football," the former coach said. Aiken explained he had been thinking about the lumber business for a long time. Furthermore his wife wanted him in the lumber business he said. His entry into Roseburg's timber industry was gained through acquaintances in the business. "I figure if you want to get into timber you might as well get right into the middle of it—and this is sure the heart of it, down here." Aiken's daughter, Carol, will be a junior in Roseburg high school this fall. A son, Jerry, will attend the University of Washington. His other son, Jim Jr., is working as a lumber buyer.

Congressman Angell Files For Seventh Term

PORTLAND — (AP)— Rep. Homer D. Angell (R-Ore) says he plans to seek re-election in November, 1952, for a seventh term in Congress. Angell, 76, representative of Oregon's Third district, including metropolitan Portland, wrote the Oregon Journal that many of his critics had said he was too old for the job. "Many of my colleagues... are 8 to 10 years older than I am," he said, adding, "I am in a position to cash in on my long service as I am now... in a position to be of greater service to my district than ever before." Angell is just back from a 27,000-mile air trip around the world

FIDO ON THE LINE

MARION, Ill. — (AP)— "Number please?" the Marion operator asked. "Woof, woof," came the reply. Her second try brought barks again. On a hunch, she had the sheriff listen and the telephone woofed back at him too. Sheriff

Ora Kirby drove to the telephone's garage location. He found it locked. A bird dog was beside the telephone which it apparently knocked from a table. Kirby called the owner who unlocked his dog.
