'Don't Hide Them Lovely Calves,' Appeal in Answer To Dior's Edict

By HAL BOYLE
PENGILLY, Minn. — (AP) — Peace is important to the men in Korea. But they are also worried about what is happening to the legs of the American girls.

Is a new cloth curtain descending over the main stems back home they adore?

This query is raised in a letter from Lieut. Tom Hamrick, writing from "near that li'l old parallel" in Korea. He is fretting over reports that the French designer Christian Dior, creator of the "new look," has again decreed that women's skirts should go lower.

(Editor's note: Why doesn't Dior design circus tents if he hates legs?)

(Boyle's note: Look, don't argue with me. We all agree. But let's let Hamrick say it. He's over there.)

(Editor's note: Okay. But I still say if 50,000,000 Frenchmen can't be wrong — well, one can be.)

(Boyle's note: How do you like them — slender like a pipe-cleaner or curvy like a fat rainbow?)

(Editor's note: Oh, I just like them. I'm a man of principle. Give it back to Hamrick. What's he say?)

Well, Hamrick's from Charleston, S. C., where "legs are more — m u c h more — beautiful than moonlight over magnolias." He says:

"Speaking for a lot of guys sitting around in a lot of holes, I'd like to say Christian Dior is about as far off base as an alligator in a canary cage."

"He may not realize it, but if Dior gets his way with women's fashions, he's going to be as popular as Kim Il Sung (the North Korean dictator) when the lads come tearing off that ship at Frisco with their eyes banjoing like Eddie Cantor's. After Korea they want to see only two things. Grandma used to say it was vulgar to call them legs.

"Demanding that women should lower their skirts and cover up two of their four finest possessions is — let me scream like Patrick Henry — nothing short of treason."

(Editor's note: Excuse me for interrupting. But where does he get that figure four?)

(Boyle's note: It's simple — two legs, two elbows. All lieutenants are crazy about elbows.)

(Editor's note: How about their brains?)

(Boyle's note: He's talking about women.)

(Editor's note: Excuse me. The third race just came in. I was thinking of horses.)

Anyway, Lieut. Hamrick says the guys in Korea are so steamed up they will catalogue Dior along with the "arch-roguers of all time" if his "cover them calves" edict comes to pass.

"Back there in the 'old country' (as you know GI's refer to the home of the installment plan) this gent must have become overexposed to milady's snazzy underpinning. If he could arrange to come to Korea, he would not only change his mind but come damned close to losing it altogether.

"Over here the women do things in perfect reverse of America's most dreamed-about sex. They cover their legs but let the feminine areas north of the navel get all the sunshine and fresh air they can absorb.

"The ladies wear something in the way of baggy pants which reminds you every much of the old golf knicker daddy used to wear. Over here womanhood plods along dusty roads in rubber shoes which give her all the sex appeal of a dead horse.

"For months the rest of the guys and I have been dreaming day and night about that fifth freedom—the one which entitles you to stand on street corners and watch women's legs go by.

"Viva la legs!"
