

FINESSE — That's the name of this suede sportster, which has a cloud-soft foam rubber inner sole that pampers your feet. It's Jantzen with the latest campus fashions — for class and football games. Note the eyelet tie. It is available in three striking colors at Arbuckle's Shoe store.

NEW FALL CLOTHES from Lowell's girls' department are modeled by three pretty girls — Arvilla Montgomery (left) wearing a woven plaid for sub-teens with a pert Tuxedo collar and accented pockets for sub-teens; Dana Dee in her dress of overall eyelet, presenting a clever appearance in a one-piece jumper style of dressy washable cotton; and Ann Kilkenny in a wool, suede coat with detachable Persian collar and Persian buttons.

Novelty Weaves
Style New Knits

A high fashion look, by means of high waistline emphasis, is news this fall in knitted suits and dresses. With novelty weaves, chain designs, vertical ribbing, and stripe effects cleverly knitted into suits and dresses to create a lovely "empire" effect.

Tues., Sept. 11, 1951—The News-Review, Roseburg, Ore. 5

in the sleeve itself or in blouse or jacket trim. Deep Dolman sleeves and novel stitching, like the alternating box and puri stitch, do much to pretty a simple knit frock. Self belts, small Peter Pan collars plus dazzling metallic thread heraldic emblems add the final beautiful touches to this Fall's knit suits and dresses.

BEST COMBINATION

You will join fashion in going high hat this fall, says Lilly Dache. But only when you wear one of the new full skirts. "I like the high-crowned or high-draped hat with a bouffant skirt," says the famous designer. "But slim skirts are still chic, and they demand the low crown; otherwise a woman would look like a bean-pole."
